He's the Ordinary Seaman of the Mercantile Marine

by HELEN HAWTHORNE

He doesn't wear a uniform
Of a tailored Navy blue.
He may never be too stylish
But he's loyal, fine and true.
He's the stoutest, bravest fighter
That the world has ever seen
He's the Ordinary Seaman
Of the Mercantile Marine.

He's the lad upon the tanker
With its precious load of oil;
He's the one who mans the freighter
With the products of our toil.
He's the one who dares the raider
And the lurking submarine
He's the Ordinary Seaman
Of the Mercantile Marine.

Let's give credit to our Air Force
And the boys in khaki, too.
Let's give credit to our Navy
And wherever it is due.
But don't forget the vital cog
In the Allies' war machine
He's the Ordinary Seaman
Of the Mercantile Marine.

We attending University in these momentous times, must justify our stay here by making a worth while contribution to the post-war reconstruction era.

It is hoped that in the years to come, this volume may serve to remind you of your obligation to society and at the same time recall some pleasant memories of your university life.

DR. J. W. SHIPLEY

PROF. W. E. CORNISH

Memoriam

The Evergreen and Gold must this year record the loss of one of Alberta's outstanding scientists.

Dr. Shipley came to the University of Alberta in 1930 with a brilliant record of scholarship and research. A graduate of the University of Manitoba and Harvard University he had been a member of the staffs of Ohio State University, of Manitoba Agricultural College and of the University of Manitoba. He was associated with many learned societies, being a member of the American Chemical Society and of the American Academy for the Advancement of Science, and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada and of the Canadian Institute of Chemistry of which he was president. He was honored in 1927 by the Engineering Institute of Canada by being presented the Plummer Medal for outstanding research, and was a member of the Council of the National Research Council of Canada from 1929 to 1932.

His name will forever be honored and treasured here at Alberta and wherever the torch of science is upheld.

PROF. W. E. CORNISH passed away November 2nd, 1943, at the University Hospital. His death came as a shock to students in the Faculty of Applied Science at the University. The friendship of a man like Professor Cornish however was not confined to his immediate associates.

There are throughout the University many students who met him in various ways and who came to know him as a true friend.

There are many graduates over the last fifteen years, who, returning to the University, would find something missing, a cheery greeting not given.

There are many engineers in the Province and elsewhere who no longer will be able to enjoy that companionship and helpful interest which made him so well thought of in his profession.

There are the members of the University staff who knew that he was willing to help them with their problems.

If it is true, therefore, that the worth of a man can be judged, in some measure at least, by a consideration of the number of people who have suffered loss by his passing, Professor Cornish has proved his worth and raised an enviable memorial to himself.

Our grand business, undoubtedly is, not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand.

THE MERCHANT MARINE

Life-line of New Empire

In spite of remarkable developments in land and air transport, the sea is still the main link between continents, and between the far-flung components of the British Empire. In the merchant marine, supplemented by the Alaska highway (to which "Evergreen and Gold" was dedicated last year) and the Northwest Staging Route, lie Canada's new opportunities for wider contacts and commercial growth.

Is there anything incongruous about an inland university paying special homage to the merchant marine? I think not. Canada depends more on world trade than any other country of her size. The whole of Canada produces the goods which fill our ships. When some of these ships are diverted to other purposes, the whole country shares the privations which ensue. We did not fully realize how much our daily diet depended upon ships until the war took some of them. Then, when the call went out for naval recruits, the prairies gave not only their share but more, in proportion to the rest of the country. Have we not a University Naval Training Division right on the Campus? And the Merchant Marine, equally with the Royal Canadian Navy, bears its full share of the hazards of war. No other service demonstrates in larger measure the truth of the King's words: "This time we are all in the front line." It is entirely fitting that students of the University of Alberta should honour the Merchant Marine.

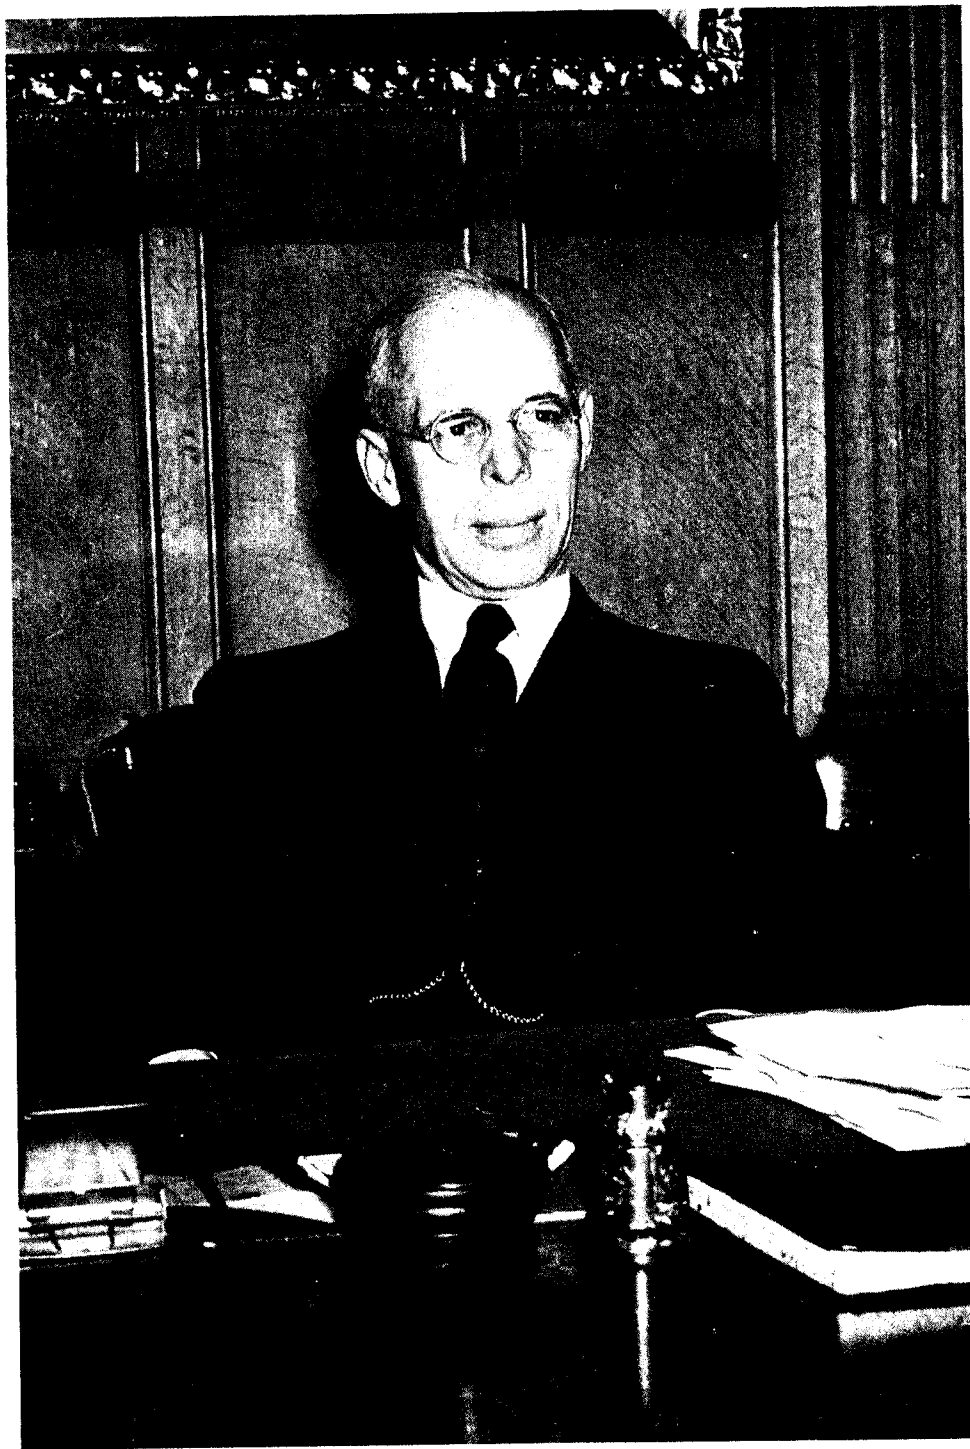

"Westward the star of Empire takes its course." We must give new meaning to these words, in harmony with the new spirit of the times as expressed in the Atlantic Charter. What we seek now is not an empire of dominion over men's lives and property, but an empire of co-operation for the common good of the world. China and Russia are emerging from this war among the greatest of the United Nations. To some of this year's graduates it will surely be given to work for closer trade and cultural relations with these ascending commonwealths. In this enterprise their indispensable ally will be the Merchant Marine.

If we do not weaken or falter in our effort, victory in the present war is assured. The next great question is: "Will there be another war?" This is on the lips of every service man and woman abroad. It should be in the hearts of everyone on the home front, too. You young men and women of the Class of 1944 will be the first to take up the challenge. We promise you our support in your determination that this thing shall not happen again, that you will set yourselves to remove its root causes.

NO. 2 ARMY COURSE

On August 7th, 1943, the first section of sixty men selected to enter the University of Alberta as members of No. 2 C.A.U.C. began arriving at C.A.(B)T.C., No.B1 C.A., Camrose, for Basic Training.

Very carefully selected previously, these men had completed Grade XII with an average of sixty per cent., had an "M" score of at least one hundred and sixty, were of "A" category and not over twenty-one years.

The period at Camrose proved a hectic one. In order to complete their training it was necessary to speed up the course. This was accomplished by training at week ends and by taking route marches at night.

These sixty men were enrolled at the U. of A. on the same status as freshmen engineers, taking identical courses, receiving the same treatment and even joining the Engineers' Student Society.

Their contributions to the field of student activities greatly assisted in making the term a more interesting one, and their value to the Engineers' Athletic efforts were immeasurable.

FRESHMAN CLASS

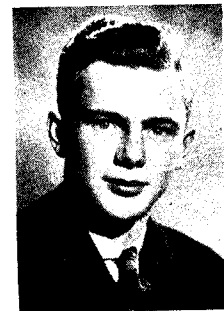

Last fall saw another Freshman Class enter these halls and "august Seniors" and lordly Juniors again pronounced them as green as ever. They waited for "Green and Gold" street cars, made use of "Supervised Playgrounds" and even showed up on time for their eight o'clock lectures. From all appearances they were just another average class full of bewilderment.

When the higher class elections turned out to be poorly contested, these Freshies proved that they were different and nominated three complete slates of officers. The election campaign that followed proved to be one of the most interesting in years. Every conceivable form of propaganda was used - the highlight of the events being a real live "jam" session in the Arts Rotunda on election day.

Working in harmony with the Sophomore Executive, the Freshmen presented the "Froph" at the Barn in mid-January. The theme was "As Time Goes By" and the programs in the form of miniature scrolls, followed this idea, with each dance being named for one of the year's big events.

Throughout the year, this class took part freely in Varsity Functions. Its addition to sporting circles proved to be invaluable with a large percentage of its number being labelled as "Golden Bear" calibre.

The ever-present threat of being forced to discontinue studies has hung like a black cloud over the class all year, and this, combined with the general attitude of the present period, has made the freshman very diligent and intent upon his work.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

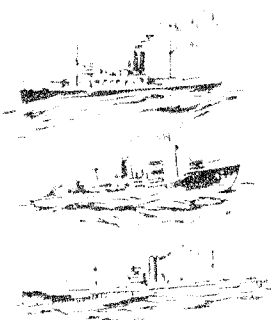

No change in a man's existence is so distinct as that on entering his second year at college. The green halo of his Freshman year gives way to a green glow under the effects of his Sophomore pipe. He is now an established scholar and a dignified counsellor to any perplexed Freshman who might happen to have the price of a coke in his jeans.

Sophomores can always be counted upon to contribute a major share to the term's activities. This year proved to be no exception and second year students were found taking part in many of those functions still remaining on the campus. The Sophomore presentation of "Pyramus and Thisbe" was judged the best of the inter-year plays. Combining with the Freshmen, the class held another successful "Froph"—a combination of the former Sophomore Reception to the Freshmen and the First Year Formal.

Hard Work—the present bug-bear of University existence—greatly manifested itself among the class of '46 throughout the term. However, typical Sophomore humor and horse-play were always present which, combined with an eventful year, should merit memory.

JUNIOR CLASS

Decreased activity in all extra-curricular work has left its mark on a war-time campus. However, the Juniors, the proverbial "play boys", who know how to work but don't bother, have done their part to keep alive sport and social functions. In sports the induction of a "Worm League" has revived an old interest in the form of inter-class competition.

This year's Prom took leave of tradition and was held on Tuesday, December 7, instead of the first Friday of December. This was due to congestion of social functions, resulting from the influx of our southern neighbor on that extensive project "The Alaska Highway". The theme of the Prom, "Crossroads of the World", had become audibly and visibly applicable here at the University, with the advent of fleets of aerial and motor transport.

In this, the fifth year of war, it is the fervent hope of the class of '45 that soon Peace on Earth shall reign supreme, and that war shortages will not affect the supply of sheep-skin.

*"Heat not a furnace for

J. BLAIR FULTON

Graduates of happier days have uttered their farewells with a promise to cherish the memories of their finest years and a pledge to reap in their maturer years the success that would most surely be theirs for the striving. But I fear that our adieu must be in a more sober strain.

Few of us will leave these halls with keen regret. By force of circumstance, our Alma Mater has been a much harsher taskmaster than in the past. She has shown little patience regarding those minutiae which in former years did so much to enrich our memories and make of them precious jewels to be jealously treasured in ensuing years. Most of us have begun—and finished—our courses in the deepening shadow of war. We have lived in an era of drastic change from a carefree, multi-coloured peacetime college life, to a grim, khaki-coloured wartime regime. One thought, one word has dominated our every hour: that thought, that word was "War!" There has been little time for the development of those gracious arts of understanding, tolerance and good-will; little time for the acquiring of the social graces and the growth of friendship; little opportunity for appreciating those intangibles we speak of as "the finer things of life." There was no time for all this; further, it was regarded as incompatible with the demands of Total War. Grim Horsemen of Destruction have cut a wide swath even in our lives: we who have lived within these not-so-sheltered halls from which we now take our leave.

In consequence, the task which awaits us is a difficult one. We who in post-war years shall be called upon for leadership and professional guidance must realize that at present we are not fitted for that task. We must strive mightily to acquire those virtues of mind and heart; that spirit of mutual tolerance and understanding, which in the past has been the mark of an educated man and which is the very cornerstone of that culture we are now fighting to preserve.

We have come to maturity in a dark hour—let us prepare now to live in the light of a brighter day. Mindful of the ideals of our Alma Mater, who was unable to give us much of the bread of the spirit—for there was a famine in our world—let us endeavour, by work and deed, to emblazon her "Quaecumque Vera" along the highways of our professional lives.

J. BLAIR FULTON.

HISTORY OF CLASS '44

ELSIE TANNER

The history of the class of '44 begins, as with classes before and after, with the gay whirl of Freshie Week, with something planned for us every minute of our time. There were a lot of us, wearing those funny green and gold caps, eager and expectant at the unknown prospects ahead. The days followed, fast and full: lectures, copied word by word; new friendships among our own class and upperclassmen; spares spent over cokes at noisy Tuck which hourly emptied and filled again; memberships in various campus clubs; attendance at varsity games and dances. All these things were part of those freshman days.

But as the Battle of Britain was fought and won, as Russia and United States joined the fight, and as Canada geared herself for a more effective war effort, Canadian universities too took on a new role.

Here on the U. of A. campus, compulsory army training for men was introduced in 1940, at which time the old varsity arena, scene of many hard-fought hockey games and happy Sunday afternoon skates, became a military drill hall. Air-force training was added in 1942, and naval training in 1943. The women too took on military work in '41 and the next year it became compulsory.

1941 saw the residences taken over by the airforce for the I.T.S., so that we are now a student body which disperses nightly to boarding and rooming houses throughout the city.

These two factors, the added military duties and the loss of the central residences, together with the new academic regulations have had their effect on every phase of university life.

Sports and literary activities have been most affected. In 1941-42 we sent our last intercollegiate rugby and basketball squads and our last debating team to Saskatchewan; our last Gilbert and Sullivan production to Calgary. However, sports have been kept alive by thriving inter-faculty leagues. The Philharmonic, perhaps the most ambitious and pretentious extra-curricular effort of the U. of A. students for many years, was shelved after the highly enjoyable "Gondoliers" in '42-'43. In the Inter-Year plays, which in our junior year were not produced but which came back this year, the "Best Play" award has always just eluded us.

Though gay decorations, tuxedos and corsages, and good old Athabasca hall are missing, the class and faculty dances continue to be the hope of every co-ed and the highlights of our social life.

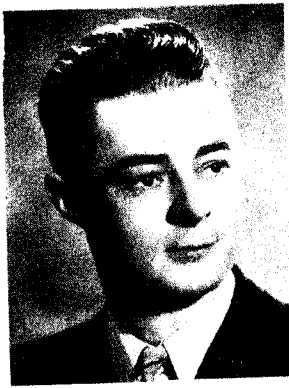

Several new features have been added to our life at varsity during our stay here—besides the Frank Sinatra craze. We now get up in the middle of the night to dash to lectures. They are called "8 o'clocks"; but we know that "Mtn. War Time" has added an hour, and it is really only 7. Sadie Hawkins dating has been known on our campus since 1941. This past year it featured that wild and wicked rugby game which resulted in not a few co-ed casualties. The major war services drives have been evidence of the students' desire to contribute tangibly to the war effort. The big annual campaigns have successfully raised funds for an ambulance and a mobile canteen for our armed forces, and for the I.S.S. to help students in war-torn countries. They have out-shone all in colorfulness save, perhaps, the Engineers' campaigns. (Thanks, Engineers, for keeping a bit of spirit abroad on the campus.)

It is said that we have missed much; that varsity life isn't what it used to be. We who were freshmen during the darkest days of the war, who have seen many of our number already leave to answer another call, have only thanks for the privilege of being here.

And now each member of Class of '44 stands ready to take his place in the world of today and of tomorrow, to justify his presence at the University during this period of world upheaval, and to be a credit to his Alma Mater.

For this has been only the first chapter of the history of the Class of '44. The rest is as yet unwritten.

SENIOR CLASS

While Sophs and Juniors are concentrating on "ripening-up" green Freshmen, the lordly Senior with his world of experience, begins his year by "harvesting" the Freshette crop. This is the first solemn duty of a Senior's year--before he gets down to the more serious business of snooker-shooting and card-sharping.

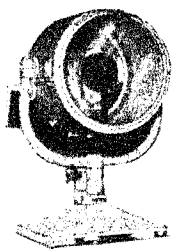

Upon reaching their final year these students are faced with such hardships as non-attendance classes, fewer eight o'clocks and little or no military training.

Late in the fall the Senior Class assembles long enough to elect an executive to represent it during the term. Besides holding the annual Senior Formal, this executive finds itself confronted with such duties as preparing graduation functions and the choosing of a class gift.

For these scholars, the year proves all too short--along come the exams, graduation and then, armed with a rudimentary knowledge, they leave our Alma Mater to become soldiers and citizens of a young expectant nation.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL

Under the leadership of a very capable executive, the number one body on the campus (despite Engineering rumours to the contrary) guided the students through a hectic yet enjoyable year. From the campus activities barometer it seems apparent that Alberta is over the war slump and that extra-curricular doings are on the up-grade.

The Students' Council of 1944 was probably more popular with the student body generally than had been any other council in University history. This was well indicated when the Gateway attempted to attack it in January only to have the whole campus—led by the "Orphan"—fly back in a most hostile manner to the Council's defence.

How different this was compared to public feeling toward the Council in past years. Much of this popularity can undoubtedly be attributed to the many different faculties which went to compose its membership.

With Council's guidance, Athletics began to thrive once more on the campus, the Junior Golden Bears met the championship Calgary team; Saskatchewan's domineering Huskies once again visited us to take back the basketball trophy; Big Tuck was turned into a substitute gym for three nights a week to handle the Drill Hall overflow; the out-door rink flourished once again—this time under the capable direction of Al McDougall,—and Bob Schrader obtained the use of the No. 4 I.T.S. Normal School Gym in exchange for the use of Alberta's sports equipment.

Another major war drive was held on the campus during 1943-44, this time to raise funds for the I.S.S. Frank Quigley handled another successful Christmas fund drive and the Dents staged their famous Magazine round-up.

House Dances proved to be more popular this year than in the past, being staged at regular intervals under the guidance of chairman Don Graves. The major social functions—the Wauneita, Junior Prom, Froph, Senior and Color Night—were enthusiastically attended and a credit to the executives that arranged them.

Sadie Hawkins once more visited our campus, this time in the form of Ladies' Daze, with the executive headed by Bob Hole staging a weekend of interesting doings.

The Council kept a steady look-out all year round to the possibility of restoring any lost University function and put up battle after battle to prevent the loss of any more. The Council of 1943-44 might well prove a model for those of future years.

EDWARD MILLER
President

Although war conditions still prevailed at St. Joe's this year, the "fellas" overlooked the numerous inconveniences and a friendly atmosphere, as always, reigned supreme.

With the three large residences on the campus being "drafted" and housing conditions in the city becoming more cramped, St. Joe's found itself being called upon to carry a bigger load than ever. "Doubling up" was necessary, especially when navy and air force personnel were also housed in the building.

The House committee, under the direction of President Ed. Miller, discharged its duties with the utmost efficiency and a minimum of coercion. Following the Christmas recess, two additional members were added to the board.

Soon after their arrival, a large crowd of Freshies were quickly initiated into the spirit and traditions of "Joe's." Nearly everyone in the college took part in a very successful formal. This function, although dropped last year, was revived in November.

Brother Patrick, College Procurator for four years, left the College last June and was replaced by Brother Walter—the former principal of St. Ann's School, Montreal. St. Joe's suffered another severe loss in the departure of Rev. Father Murphy, who had been the college chaplain for the past three years.

WAUNEITA SOCIETY

JANE SINCLAIR
Vice-President

As the sundial completes its circle for 1943-44, some of the most remembered activities will be those of the Wauneita Society -- the "Indian tribe" to which all women students of the campus belong.

This year saw several changes in the usual routine pow-wows. During Freshie Introduction Week the executive initiated the unseasoned squaws into the tribe. On registration day the Freshettes were introduced into the halls of learning; and then refreshed by a cup of tea in the Upper Wauneita Room. At this time they were welcomed by Dr. Mary Winspear, Dean of Women, and some of their senior sisters. A tea for Mrs. Newton followed the next afternoon, at which time the girls also met their Honorary President, Dr. Geneva Misener; and learned (?) the Wauneita Song. On Thursday evening over 150 women students trekked to the Outdoor Cabin where everyone enjoyed a sing-song and weiner roast. On the following Tuesday, the Initiation Ceremony, held out of doors for the first time in the history of Wauneitas, left a vivid and non-forgettable picture in the minds of the Freshettes as they were pledged into the Society under oath -- "Payuk uche Kukeyow, Kukeyow uche Payuk."

The Wauneita formal, the first of major functions, was held at the Macdonald Hotel, and really set the stage for a good social season.

Waw Waw Weekend, bigger and better than ever, saw the Wauneitas to the fore again. Besides the usual Tuck dates, theatre parties and dances, the squaws staged a real massacre in the form of a football game, much to the amusement of their braves.

After the first period of gaiety the girls settled down -- to books and war services and did a good job of both.

The last function of the Wauneita Society is the annual banquet held early in March, a reunion of all squaws from Alumnae to Freshettes.

Though functioning in difficult times, the Wauneitas as usual had a very successful season. Thanks and credit are due to the Honorary President and a most co-operative executive. May the thoughts of 1943-44 Wauneitas remain with you "ad infinitum."

CONSTITUTIONAL ENFORCEMENT COMMITTEE

As set out in the Enforcement Act of the Students' Union Constitution, the duty of the Constitutional Enforcement Committee is to interpret and enforce the Constitution and Statutes of the Students' Union and to adjudicate all matters involving the welfare of its members. Fines up to $15.00 may be levied by the Committee as well as the expulsion of any offender from student office.

Although a necessary and vital part of Student Government, the Committee rarely finds itself called upon to perform any of its allocated duties. Because of this, knowledge of its existence and purpose is a rare thing amongst students.

COLIN HEELTINE
Chairman

WOMEN'S DISCIPLINARY COMMITTEE

MARY C. ARMEY
Chairman

The Women's Disciplinary Committee has jurisdiction over all women students on the campus and at all University functions. It consists of a Chairman, appointed from the previous year's committee, two junior students, elected each term, and the President of the Wauneita Society.

The Women's Disciplinary Committee may at its discretion impose fines up to the sum of $15.00, or may bar or dismiss the offender from any student activity or student office.

During the year the Committee checked on the state and the use of the Upper Wauneita room, the general disregard of the lower Wauneita rooms and censored smoking in the corridors by girls.

The Major War Drive on our campus this year was a contribution to the International Students' Service. This organization undertakes to help student prisoners of war and other destitute students to carry on their studies in spite of extreme handicaps.

The objective this year was $1,500.00 and although it is too early to give the exact results of the campaign it seems quite likely that the objective will be well over-subscribed.

The Drive was opened by a very successful tag day with $200.00 being obtained. Surpluses from Freshman Introduction week, the Wauneita Dance, and all the House Dances were turned in to the campaign. Each individual student was personally canvassed and asked to sign over $1.25 of his Caution Money. The professors and Campus Clubs were also asked to contribute and did so very generously.

Laverna Quinn and her hard working Wauneitas staged a Magazine Raffle and later a tea in the new cafeteria to raise funds for the drive. An historic House Dance was staged by the Tri-Delts in February, which proved to be one of the year's most enjoyable evenings, besides raising a large sum for the I.S.S.

Faculty assistance was obtained through Professor Andrew Stewart.

The Christmas War Services Committee, under the direction of Frank Quigley, maintained its usual success of other years. $300.00 was raised through a Tag Day and Radio Raffle to send twelve hampers of food and clothing to needy districts in the north. These hampers were handled by district nurses who all replied stating the usefulness of such an undertaking.

Additional assistance was obtained in the Christmas Fund Drive from the McLeod Nursing Club.

EVERGREEN & GOLD

RALPH JAMISON

ALF. HARPER
Assistant Director

HARRY HOLE
Editor

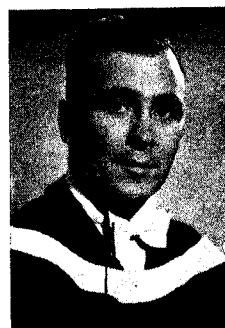

This year's Evergreen and Gold had its quota of difficulties to be met - and overcome. In addition, a brand new innovation was added to its list of achievements.

It was not until late in September that a Director for the 1943-44 Yearbook was appointed and the staff, from the Director down, was entirely new to the Yearbook field. Director Ralph Jamison's choice in selecting his staff and the work of the whole gang is reflected in this edition of the Evergreen and Gold.

The innovation wrought by the Director was the publication of a single sheet newspaper (??) whose main purpose was to act as a link between the student and the Yearbook staff. It was christened the "Orphan", with Jamison as the original father by adoption. Later, the parentage was altered and the editing turned over to Alan McDougall. Opinions on the Orphan are still varied. Another method employed in bringing the Yearbook to the students' attention was a series of Student Talent programs sponsored by the Evergreen and Gold and broadcast over CKUA.

Jamison, backed and abetted by his able assistant, Alf. Harper, set a fast pace at the word "Go" and commenced the long struggle which ranges all the way from creating visions on paper to worrying about getting the paper. Besides sparking each department with ideas and energy, the Director sought to modernize working conditions in the office by spreading his choice collection of pin-ups over the walls. Whether there was sabotage afoot or whether the cuts had the opposite effect than intended --the result was a thinning out of the exhibit --but soon!

It seems like the shortage of what makes up the material side of a publication is still on the upgrade. Shortages of films for photos and metal for cuts naturally would affect the Evergreen and Gold. To fill the breach, Pat Robinson worked double time and one-half, taking photos that would ordinarily be taken by professional firms and with excellent results. Pat could be seen any time and any place (within limits) flashing bulbs and birdies at all phases of campus life. Thus, one of the most vulnerable aspects of a college yearbook has been kept at par. Maybe above par?

As an Editor, Harry Hole carried into his job the inherent industry of an Engineer and the quaint cut of language that becomes an author of Slide Rule Slants. Besides scanning and checking the many thousands of words that pass into the build-ups, he also provided inspiration to the secretary, Mary Sterling, who hammered out these thousands of words upholstered by Hole into presentable form.

The only other girl in the family was Lois MacQueen, the Club Editor, who has done a swell job in gathering material from the more than 45 clubs on the campus. Did you know that there were that many clubs here? That was one of the Orphan's "scoops."

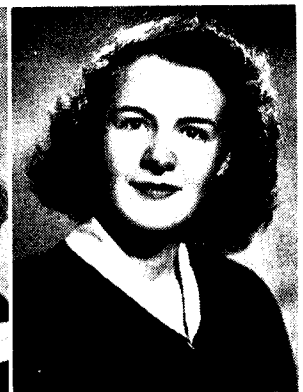

Bob Purvis and Murray Jacques as Business Manager and Advertising Manager respectively, kept the paying pages filled with the commercial items and kept the financial wolves from the door.

That veteran of years of college sports write-ups, Bill Clark, supervised the sporting section. Instead of including sports as a separate book in this Yearbook, it has been decided to list it under the book Activities. This is a change over last year's set-up.

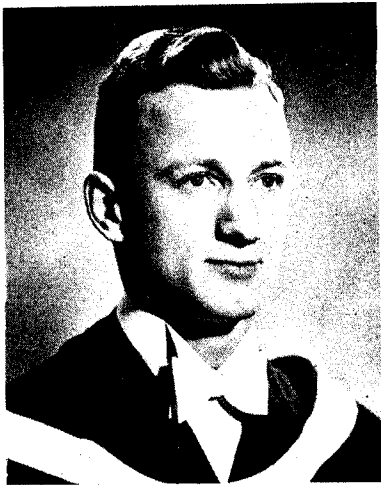

There are many others who, wittingly or unwittingly, aided in the compiling of this Yearbook, and with academic status being so important right now, and the call of the books so strong it is to their credit that they all got into the right spot and pushed your Memory Book over the last obstacle.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

After the success that the combined Telephone Directory and Handbook attained on the campus last year, the Students' Council again decided to print this publication in the combined form.

Under the capable direction of Stew Sinclair, the booklet was ready for distribution during the first week in November. Thus it provided the local Sadie Hawkins' with an excellent weapon during "Ladies' Daze."

The Directory is divided into six parts—all of pertinent interest to the U. of A. student. Besides listing the phone numbers of every student, the residences, government offices, fraternity houses and other important University organizations, it contains a brief but complete description of many features affecting undergraduate life. Within this dynamic little volume, the student finds a wealth of information on the numerous campus clubs, on the University and Discipline, details of Union publications and government and important facts regarding his classes and behavior. The booklet even contains the more important Varsity songs and yells.

Despite the increased size of the edition in this its fifth year of publication, it is still presented to the students free of charge. This is made possible by Union subsidy and advertising.

Despite University requirements which demanded increasingly high academic standards of students, the "Gateway" was able to retain a loyal staff of workers. The members—reporters, editors, subscription, circulation and advertising managers with their assistants—were each willing to give up a great deal of valuable time in order to publish the Gateway. A number of students on the campus contributed miscellaneous items, even though not on the staff. Certain professors took a keen interest in the welfare of the paper and assisted with helpful advice. In compliance with the recommendation of the Students' Council last year, one paper per week was published instead of the regular two issues. This single edition, however, had six pages and with a larger Easter issue and a special Freshman paper, the students received the same number of pages for their subscription fee.

Faculty members were given a chance to express themselves in the Gateway. Entitled "Faculty on the Spot," a column was introduced in which the professors expressed their opinions on various university matters, or attempted to justify the presence of their particular faculty on the University curriculum.

The Canadian University Press column, "News and Views from Other U's," which was instituted last year was most capably handled by Jane Stevenson. It proved to be the only column of its kind in Canada and covered Varsity functions held in all Canadian Universities. An excellent bit of reporting-by-telegraph was done in securing the different standards prevailing for the Christmas exams; obtaining the failure percentages after Christmas and in getting the original regulations governing final examinations which were not available at the University of Alberta. It has been the C.U.P.'s finest year.

In the Sports department, Bill Clark as Sports Editor and Archie Campbell, Assistant Sports Editor, provided a complete coverage of University sporting activities. In March Bill attended the Western Canadian University Athletic Conference in Saskatoon, bringing back a complete story of the event.

Don Cormie and Sylvia Rowan as Features and Women's Editors, respectively, lightened their pages with regular columns by "mystery" writers. The Deacon, Yehudi, and Zadoc were the cause of much speculation and a great deal of comment. In the Easter issue the identity of these writers was revealed—Frank Quigley as the Deacon, Bernice Thompson and Dorothy Ravenscroft as Yehudi and Ernie Nix as Zadoc. Poetry and short articles on current topics made these pages very popular. Much credit for the success of the Blood Donor Drive on the campus must go to Sylvia Rowan for her regular article informing the students of the urgent need, and for her clever and original cuts.

Outstanding issues for this term were the Co-ed issue, the Christmas issue and the Easter issue. The news items on the new exam regulations at Christmas and on the final exam. regulations were the cause of much comment. An attack on the Students' Council met with a heated protest from all corners. A special word of praise must go to Lois Knight for her loyal co-operation and constant effort on behalf of the paper.

Gateways were mailed to ex-students who are members of His Majesty's Forces serving in Canada, over 600 copies being mailed each week. Appreciation for this service was expressed in the numerous letters which came from points all across Canada.

Morley Tanner and his business staff raised more than enough funds to see the Gateway through a financially successful year.

JIM SPILLIOS

PROVINCIAL NEWS DEPARTMENT

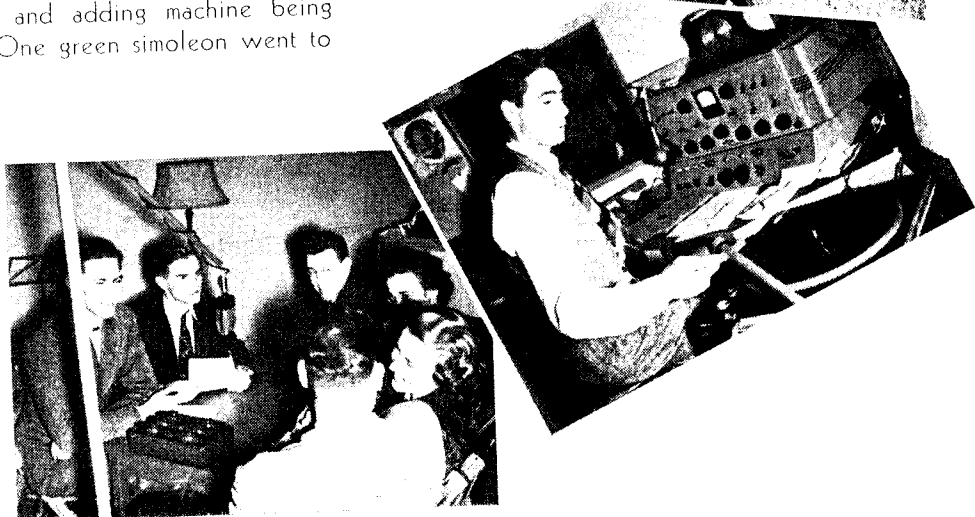

Organized to stimulate a friendly public interest in the University, the Provincial News Department presented four programs over the University station CKUA. With sporting activities at a minimum there were no opportunities for the Department to broadcast these events as was the custom in previous years.

"Gateway News", presented every Thursday evening at 6:15, by announcer Jim Spillios, differed considerably from former years. It featured a round-up of University News from around the world as well as the campus doings at the U. of A. The program assisted in the promotion of the campus drives for International Students' Society funds and for Red Cross Blood Donors, both of which proved so successful this year.

Miss Nancy Thompson, also a member of the Provincial News Department, took one program a month on the series "Women On the Air," thus assisting the Citizens' Volunteer Bureau, who were responsible for the series as a whole. Articles were taken from "London Calling — the Overseas Journal of the BBC," and from "The New Trail" the Alumni Association Publication. The time of broadcast was 4:30 on Friday.

Another program which indicated the increasing political consciousness of Alberta students consisted of a series of interviews with such personages as Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Tim Buck and M. J. Coldwell.

"What d'ya Know?" a continuation of last year's Varsity Quiz Show, was the fourth program of the Department. An added interest was obtained by pitting faculty against faculty. Quiz Master was Drake Shelton, with the Gruen and adding machine being handled by Lew Lyman. One green simoleon went to the individual high scorer of the program, three bones to the high scorer for the series, and five rocks to the club amassing the most points in the year.

ATHLETIC DIRECTORS

MISS K. FOSKETT

Graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, Miss Kathleen E. B. Foscett has just completed her third year in charge of women's athletics on the campus. She is an all round Saskatchewan product in that she was born in Saskatoon and received her early schooling in that centre and Prince Albert. After attending the U. of S. Miss Foscett taught school in Saskatchewan country points and then proceeded to Regina to specialize in high school Physical Education Instruction. Then, when the call came from Alberta, she accepted, arriving in September, 1941.

Since that time Miss Foscett has pursued her studies at summer sessions at the University of British Columbia and in Victoria.

As an active participant in all sports, the head of women's athletics prefers tennis, swimming, basketball, track and gymnastics.

Specifically Miss Foscett—whose friends all call her "Kay"—will be much happier when the university gets its gym back. Her pet hate—"the lack of pep and spirit at Alberta just now."

Promoted last fall from the post of Hockey Director, Stan Moher, one of Edmonton's best known sports enthusiasts and organizers, stepped into the role of Athletic Director and planned what has been one of Alberta's most successful seasons of men's athletics. A capable executive as well as an accomplished athlete, Stan Moher worked in close co-operation with M.A.B. president Bob Schrader rejuvenating and reviving deceased and dispirited clubs.

Utilizing a wealth of experience gained in senior and semi-pro ranks, Stan Moher has been the director and coach for Varsity hockey teams since the fall of 1938. Besides hockey accomplishments, he has baseball, golf and tennis crowns to his credit.

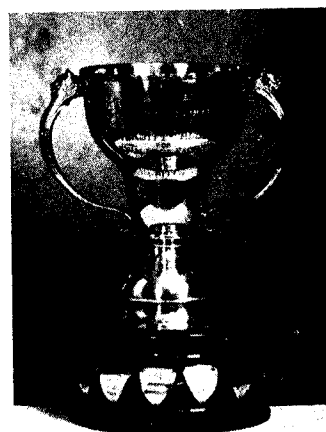

Stan has won the respect and confidence of every athlete in Alberta's University, and has, despite wartime restrictions, put new life into Varsity's athletic system.

BILL SIMPSON
Secretary

Fighting a tough battle against discouraging regulations, the Men's Athletic Board, guided by president Bob Schrader and secretary-treasurer Bill Simpson, overcame most obstacles and gave the university's athletes a year of sport which was quite gratifying, despite reduced membership in almost every instance.

First action taken by the M.A.B. was the securing of Sports Director Stan Moher, Edmonton's well-known player, coach and journalist. Stan had long been connected with the Varsity's most successful venture—hockey—and was a natural for the job. Much of the credit for what progress the M.A.B. did make was due to Moher's enterprise and persistence.

Intervarsity Basketball, golf, tennis, and the Spike Shoe Club were all revived in 1943-44. Dr. Broadfoot donated an award to the winner in golf and Alex. Wynnchuck put up a boxing trophy. Tennis, although one of the season's most successful ventures, is still awaiting a trophy.

The club boasting the greatest increase in members and enthusiasm was the Swimming Club under president George Smith.

The M.A.B., while not being able to arrange return games due to our university's no-travel-at-all regulations, succeeded in entertaining Alberta fans with two series against outside teams. The first was on a bitter night in the fall—the only night it would snow—when the Junior Golden Bears went up against the Calgary Blizzards for the provincial junior football title. The Bears lost. The second series was against Saskatoon for the Rigby Trophy, emblematic of Intercollegiate basketball superiority. The Bears also lost this, but to a different tune. The series was close and Alberta acquitted herself creditably.

Officials of the 1943-44 M.A.B. were:

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Women's Athletic Association carried on another successful season despite the fact that athletics were limited to inter-faculty competition.

This year women's athletics were incorporated into the policy of the War Services Board by allowing a participant to earn twenty hours in the athletic field. This resulted in a greater turnout at practices and consequently a higher standard of sports.

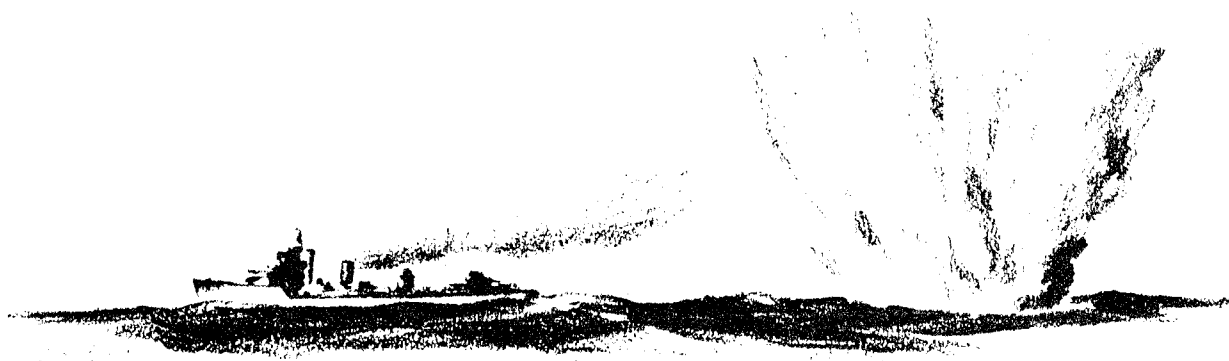

The Swimming Club has expanded considerably with a membership of approximately fifty and has conducted several successful interfac meets. The executive was able to secure the services of ACQ Jack Pomfret, a well known swimming star, who coached the members and was a great asset to the club.

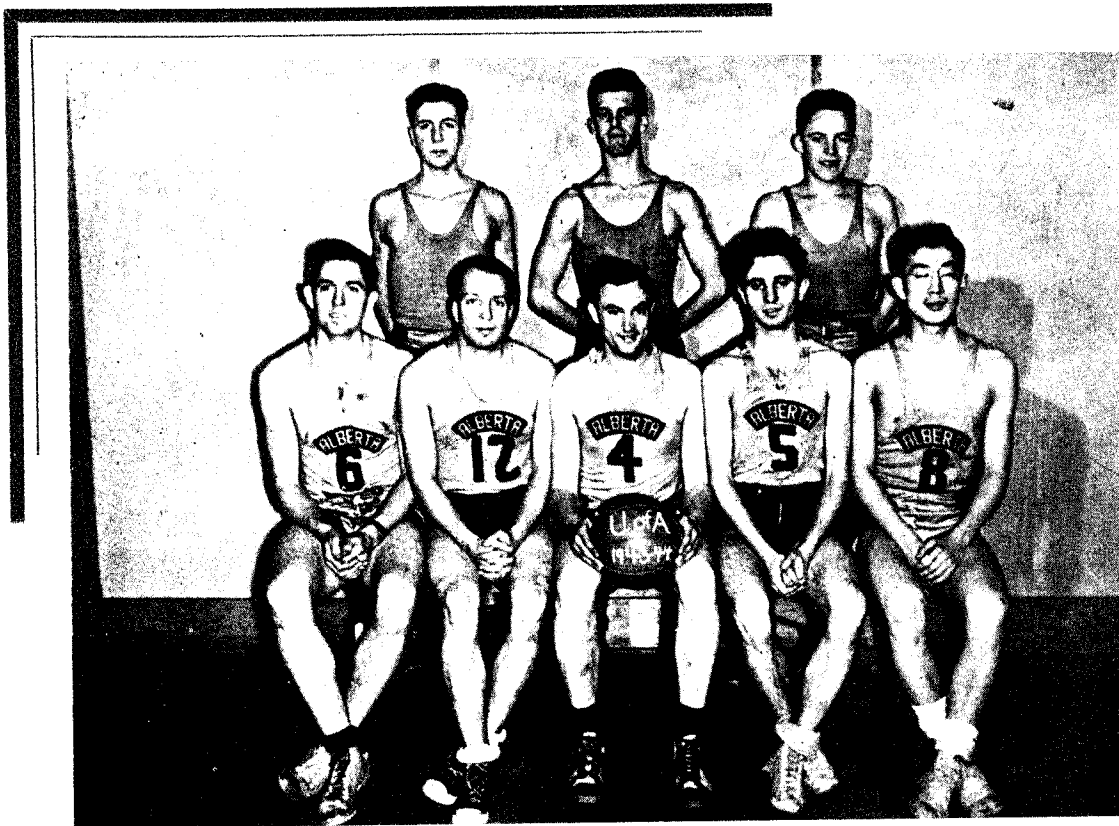

SHEILA McRAE
Secretary Treasurer

Five competitions were held in the Rose Bowl Series. Since the weather was poor in the fall, the tennis tournaments were left unfinished although the various faculties were given their entry points. Basketball schedules were terminated before Christmas with Education on top and Science running a close second. Volleyball carried on in the New Year by playing a Round Robin at each practice. Track was keenly contested this year with the entry of several freshettes who already held records. Among the participants were Dorothy Ward, Sylvia Callaway, Lillian Reid and Marjorie Fazackerly.

The Science team nosed out a hard fighting Education squad in order to secure the Rose Bowl for another year. This competition to determine the leaders in women's inter-faculty sports is becoming more keenly contested year by year.

MIEN'S SENIOR BASKETBALL

With the Varsity rugby team being limited to players of junior age, basketball found itself the only senior aggregation representing Alberta in the sports world.

Probably no basketball aggregation ever to represent the University spent the year in such fast company as did the current Golden Bears hoopsters, in the Edmonton International Men's Basketball League. Comprising as it did eight American teams and four Canadian, divided into six-team sections, the circuit offered the best brand of men's basketball ever to hit this part of the country. Our Bears found the going pretty rough and rocky and after taking the measure of the Quatermasters in the opening skirmish of the season were shut out from that point on. It should be pointed out that the Green-and-Gold court artists were playing in the "A" section of the E.I.M.B.L., where they encountered the best talent performing in the circuit. In the "B" division the Golden Bears would have been a standout.

The season wound up with a two-game total-points-to-count series with University of Saskatchewan for the Hardy Memorial Trophy, emblematic of intercollegiate basketball supremacy. Both games were played in the Normal gym in Edmonton and the visitors retained their honors for the ninth year in a row by taking the measure of Alberta by scores of 49-32 and 35-33. In this latter contest the B'ars turned in what was probably their finest display of the season. It just failed to stop the Huskies.

Playing president of Alberta's senior hoopsters was John McInnis, with Garth Evans serving the term as the team's manager. Gordon Ferguson coached the squad throughout the year.

INTERFAC BASKETBALL

Interfac manager Herb Christie should have the satisfaction of a man who has done a hard job well. His basketball league functioned smoothly throughout the entire season—something unique in Interfac basketball. Once again the Fighting Aggies scrapped their way to victory, triumphing over the determined Engineers to salt away the house league crown for the third year in succession.

Jack Garvin was one of the mainstays of the victorious Aggies. The tireless blonde speed-artist sparked the club all the way, and with Mark Grant, helped pave the way to the Interfac Trophy.

The Engineers, after a slow start, started moving at a terrific clip toward the end. Paced by high-scoring Patterson, they were good enough to take second place and thereby clinch the much-sought-after Bulletin Trophy.

The Education squad with smooth Alex. Jardine, led the league at the halfway mark but faded noticeably—after losing a pair of their high-scorers, Bud Eggenberger and Jack Yates.

The Arts, sparked by Roy Spackman, Roy Davidson and Sandy Gilchrist, floored a smart, first-rate quintet. The Meds were forced to withdraw at Christmas while the Army Course and Dents met with but indifferent success.

Referees for the league were Del Steed of the Golden Bears and Roy Spackman.

JUNIOR RUGBY

For probably the first time in history, University of Alberta sent a junior football (rugby) squad in quest of provincial grid laurels. Coach Tommy Hays had been toying with the idea for a number of seasons and something finally came of it during the 1943 pigskin parade.

Coach Hays, after watching the various inter-faculty aggregations in action for a time, declared it as his belief that a capable team of junior age footballers could be selected from the loop. Managers Jack Jorgens and Bob Robertson concurred and it was decided to pick an under-age squad and challenge the winners of the Calgary junior circuit for the right to be called Alberta champions.

Hays went into action and culled the inter-faculty league for the talent he wanted while University athletic authorities contacted the southerners. The latter agreeing to come to Edmonton for a sudden death appearance, October 23rd was selected as the date for the gridiron fireworks.

Came October 23rd – and disillusionment. Calgary sent up the Blizzards (aptly named, for certain) and the Green and Gold absorbed a humbling 23-2 shellacking at the hands of the slick kids from the south.

There were extenuating circumstances. The Varsity combine had been “whipped into shape” in a few short weeks and when it took the field at Clarke Stadium on the night of October 23rd in its first and only contest of the season it faced a gang of spirited pigskin toters that had been playing since early August.

It was generally agreed that regardless of the outcome the University had made a splendid contribution toward keeping Alberta football alive for the duration. Had it not been for the efforts of Varsity football enthusiasts there would have been no playdowns during the 1943 campaign.

—== INTERFAC

The 1943 Interfac Football League, operated by the energetic rugby promoters Bob Robertson and Jack Jorgens, provided some of the best Varsity football since the days when the Golden Bears were functioning regularly. Composed of Seniors and Juniors alike, the four entries in the league dished out very hotly contested battles, with no love going to waste on any side. The Med-Dent Giants steamrolled the rest of the teams into submission, despite the fighting spirit of the latter squads. There was little wonder about how the Med-Dent powerhouse literally ground the others into the dirt, for their team was packed with such little chaps as Ken Bradshaw, Bruce Mackay, Harry Jones, Mel Ottem, Laurie Wiggins, Lloyd Grisdale, Blair Fulton, Bert Hall, Don Ulrich, Art Follett, Paul Drouin, Dick Corbet, Nori Nishio, Jim Metcalfe, Don Rice, and Cooper Johnson—giving an average weight of not so terribly far from 200. Furthermore, some of those boys were plenty fast on their feet. Many of them were seniors on old Golden Bear teams; they had no bad weak spots. They were great champions.

The Arts-Com-Law aggregation, hopelessly out of the running, made things easy for league officials by eliminating a weakened Aggie team in the last league game. A win for the Farmers would have put them in a second place tie with the fast Engineers, but the Aggies, without their star performer Ralph Dalsin, or the stalwarts Big Ed Patching and Herb Christie, were no match against an A-C-L team which early in the season had showed poor form, but toward the end flared quite hot indeed.

The Engineers fielded a small, fast, fighting band of scrappers in their effort to get around the big Med-Dent army. The Slide Rule Manipulators lost, 11-2 in the final battle, but their effort was magnificent. They held the Doctors at bay during the first two quarters, mainly on clever playing by their undersized backfield of Dawn Fairbairn, Jack Setters, Kenny Kuwahara, and Ernie Cudby. Twice the Engineers were in scoring position, but the first time, Fairbairn tripped after carrying the ball well into the clear, and the second, a long heave from Setters to Harry Hole was tipped out of the latter's mitts as he prepared to grab it, standing on the goal-line.

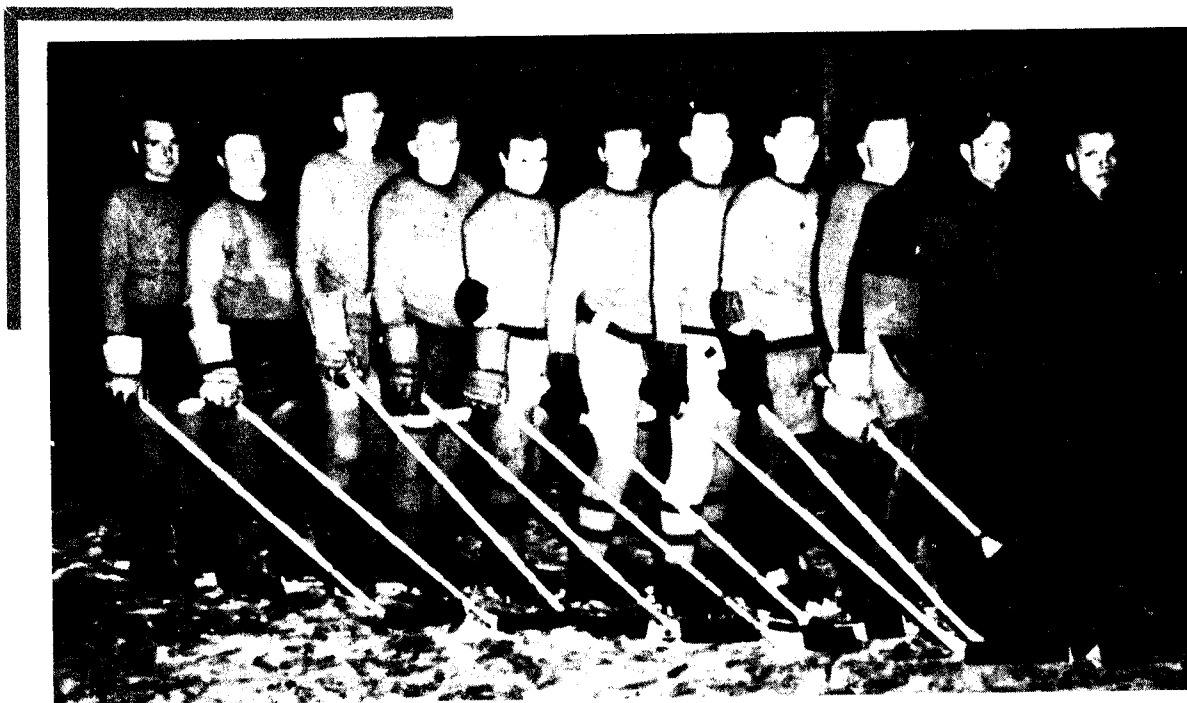

In the last quarter, Bruce Mackay, with a touchdown and a convert, and Bradshaw, with a touchdown, paved the way to the Med-Dent victory over the tired but struggling Engineers. Mackay's consistent kicking was one of the features of the Med-Dent drive to the Interfaculty Championship they richly deserved.

INTERFAC HOCKEY

MED-DENTS

Jones (Manager), Mackay (Coach), Walhovd, Miller, Drouin, Lappa, Fraser, Dimock, Torrance, Slevinsky, Hall.

A three team interfaculty loop took care of most of the hockey played at the university during the 1943-44 term. This league was comprised of Med-Dents—coached by Bruce Mackay; Engineers of Coach Jack Setters; and a combined Arts-Ag-Com-Law aggregation, master-minded by Johnny Colter. The trio finished in the order indicated, final standing being as follows:

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts.
Med-Dents	8	8	0	0	56	24	16
Engineers	8	2	5	1	32	51	5
A.A.C.L.	8	1	6	1	28	41	3

In a two-out-of-three series staged for the league crown, following the close of the regular schedule, Med-Dents continued to display a mastery over Engineers that had prevailed all season and blotted out the "Slide-Rulers" in two straight games, 5-1 and 9-0.

President of hockey was Bruce Mackay, and he topped off a year of brilliant play by copping the coveted Dr. Shoemaker trophy, awarded each season to the puckchaser chosen most valuable to his team.

All-Star team, selected by players, coaches and officials of the interfaculty ice circuit was as follows: Goal, Jack Setters, Engineers; Defence, Bruce MacKay, M-D's and John Colter, A.A.C.L.; Centre, Barss Dimock, M-D's; Right Wing, Bob Schrader, A.A.C.L.; Left Wing, Jim Taylor, A.A.C.L.

Team managers were Harry Jones of the champion Med-Dents; Bob Buckley, Engineers; and Keith Pringle, Arts-Ag-Com-Law.

All games were played on the grid's open air rink.

ENGINEERS

Buckley (Manager), Dunsmore, Ross, Proctor, MacLean, McGuffin, Lerbeckmo, Lauriente, Howard, Burton, Dutka, Spence, Dimock, Setters (Coach).

WOMEN'S SENIOR BASKETBALL

As in the past two years the girls carried on despite the fact that there was to be no intercollegiate competition. The numbers turning out were small, but six regulars, including Belyea, Johnstone and Kryz from last year's team, plus three enthusiastic freshettes, Barnes, Callaway and Hole, soon had a smart club into shape. They were augmented by the star Causgrove who managed a few practices on top of nursing. By Christmas the team was looking forward to walking off with the honors in a rumored series with Saskatchewan.

Actually the series could have been arranged in February, but old man Christmas exams dealt a cruel blow and left the team in a state of collapse. The girls were very much disappointed because there was no doubt they did have a smooth-working team with bright prospects.

Much credit is due Tommy McClocklin, the girls' coach—the girls enjoyed working with him. He arranged several games with overtown teams and in these the girls more than held up their end.

With this nucleus from this year's team, a strong club, capable of dealing decisively with Saskatchewan should be seen in action next year. Undoubtedly this year's team contained the best material seen for the past three years and a really smart club was clicking in great style. If it's any indication of what to expect next year—woe betide the Huskiettes!

WOMEN'S INTERFAC SPORTS

EDUCATION

Basketball

The interfaculty basketball this year, under the capable direction of Eleanor Kryz, got off to a fine start and a high tempo was kept up throughout the season. Each faculty was well represented, and enthusiasm was shown by all who were out to have a lot of good clean fun. There were five teams in the league under direction of the faculty managers Arts, Yoshiye Iwashita; Nurses, Dorothy Wiltzen; House Ec., Vonnie Broadfoot; Science, Doris Mackay; Education, Sylvia Callaway.

The four top teams chosen as a result of the schedule competitions played two games in the semi-finals. Education defeated Arts, and House Ec. lost to Science.

The final, a "sudden death" game between Science and Education wound up the season with a bang, with the sharp-shooting forwards, and the impenetrable defense of Education upholding their reputation and coming out with top honors.

A good time was had by all, and interfac basketball of '43 was a big success thanks to the splendid work and co-operation of Eleanor Kryz, the referees Del Steed and Reed Payne, and every girl who took part.

Volleyball

With enthusiasm running high in interfac competition this year, no attempt was made to work up an interest in volleyball. It was already there. After the life or death struggle which characterized the interfac basketball, better known as modified rugby, the girls were right in there the first week of the volleyball tournament. To some the game was unfamiliar, but with ten people on each side of the net shouting instructions at them, they soon learned how and when to play.

A Round Robin was on the go for five weeks, with fifty girls participating in the tournament. The Education girls wouldn't be defeated and walked off with the best record in the tournament, having lost only one game out of ten. Science with a 60 per cent. score took second place; House Ec. and Arts followed with a close third and fourth.

The interfaculty managers, Sylvia Callaway, Doris Mackay, Lavonne Broadfoot and Yoshiye Iwashita, were largely responsible for the excellent participation.

— TRACK —

MEN'S TRACK

Engineers and Arts signallized the return of track and field to the University picture by staging a great duel for inter-faculty honors. The slide-rule manipulators just edged out the latter by a 62-59 point total.

The meet was staged at the grid on the afternoon of Saturday, October 16th, with a number of other faculties represented as well as the pair which dominated the proceedings.

A quartette of performers highlighted the cinder track doings. These were freshmen Ernie McCullough, Mickey Hajash and Jerry Gainer and sophomore Julie O'Connor. McCullough, a 17-year-old speedster from Calgary, grabbed individual honors for Engineers with 23 points, just a couple more than O'Connor was able to snare in the interests of the fighting Artsmen.

President Ken Bradshaw was in charge of the meet.

WOMEN'S TRACK CLUB

The Women's track team which organized and practiced immediately following registration enjoyed another successful season. There was an interfaculty meet held on October 9th, with an entry of 21 contestants coming from all faculties—Arts, Science, Nursing, Education and House Ec. The keenest competition in years resulted with the records broken in four events.

Education took the top honors of the day with Science in second place. The top honors for individual scores went to Dorothy Ward, Science; Sylvia Callaway, Education; Lillian Reid, Education and Jean Pritchard, Arts.

Miss Foskett and her class directed the efficient running of the meet, ably assisted by Stan Moher.

On February 15th the Women's and Men's Track Clubs amalgamated to form the "Spiked Shoe Club," which in the future will work together as one club. Membership is open to participants and all who are interested in the organization. The Club is planning a big and enthusiastic program next year.

Lillian Reid, Dot Ward, Sylvia Callaway.

TENNIS

JOHN McINNIS

University of Alberta has a tennis champion again in the elongated person of John McInnis. On the shelf for a number of seasons, the net game was taken down, brushed off, and once again established as a Varsity sport.

Said tournament was held at the Garneau courts, with ideal weather prevailing during the 10 days required to settle the issues involved.

Men's singles attracted 35 entries and the doubles proved a magnet for 10 combines.

The new champion triumphed over Paul Drouin in the final only after five hard fought sets were waged. The pair played fine tennis to wind up the tournament on a high note.

A pair of "dark-horses," Tom Carscadden and Dick Grunert, annexed the doubles crown. Their opponents in the final were Ken Bradshaw and Frank Fergie.

GOLF

After an absence of several years golf reappeared on the University's sports calendar. Greatest incentive to a revival of divot doings was the decision of popular "Bill" Broadfoot to offer the Broadfoot Award to the winner of any proposed tournament.

Municipal course was selected as the venue for a tourney held in October. Some 25 iron artists sent in entries.

Freshman Pat Johnstone grabbed the honors and with them the Broadfoot Award. A 22 handicap man, Pat strung 18-hole rounds of 95-91 together for a gross of 186 and a two-under-par net of 142. This proved just good enough to beat out Gordon Gore-Hickman (16), who finished 143.

Disregarding handicaps, Jim Metcalfe emerged from the tourney as the best golfer, firing rounds of 83 and 88.

PAT JOHNSTONE

ARCHERY CLUB

1943-44 was a notable year in the history of the Archery Club for it saw the club number men among its members as well as women. Also, the club found itself a convenient new home this year in the basement of Big Tuck.

As usual, the first few meetings were well attended, and when winter arrived attendance dropped considerably. The University team, composed of four girls and headed by president Dorothy Smith, lost to the Y.W. Archery Club in a tournament.

The members of the Archery Club wound up the year's activities by blowing the few dollars at their disposal on a bowling party at the "Rec." in the middle of March.

All in all, the year was a successful one, and proved that the University Archery Club has a promising future ahead of it.

BADMINTON

Overcoming the difficulty confronting most badminton clubs trying to operate last year—that of securing sufficient birds—the Varsity club carried out a complete schedule under the guidance of president Margery Fraser. The well rounded out year featured a tournament in January to decide top honors among the club's many talented players. These players had formed the nucleus around which the club, with many welcome beginners, had operated.

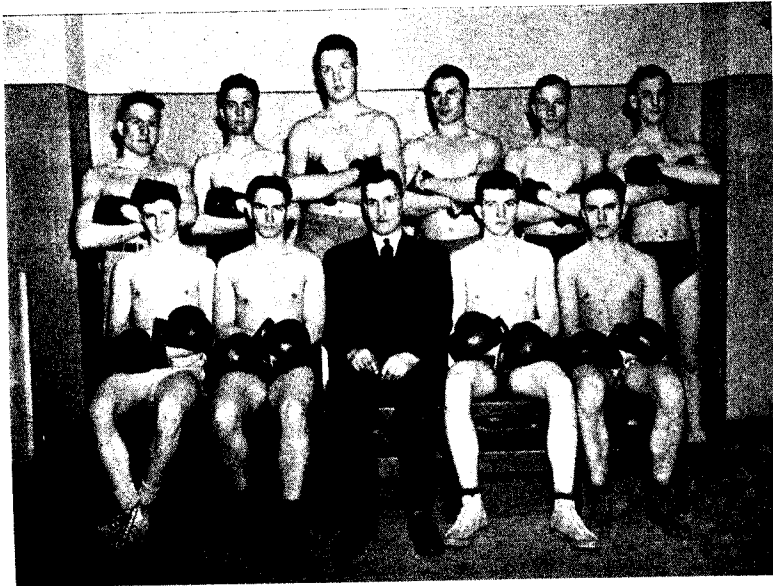

Play on Wednesday and Friday nights in the drill hall was made a little bothersome by the low rafters, the low-hanging heater and the chilly temperature. However, the club had use of the I.T.S. gym once a week.

Honors in the ladies' division of the tournament went to Margery Fraser and Molly Hughes, who combined to take the ladies' doubles from Marg. Hayes and Marg. Jones. Miss Fraser, one of the sport's smoothest and most accurate playmakers, won the singles title handily. Molly Hughes teamed with Bill Armstrong to capture the mixed doubles crown, from ex-partner Fraser, and Bruce Blayney, the soft-shot expert.

The battle for men's doubles was close. Art Wagner and Bill Armstrong finally walked off the floor, victors over Pat Robinson and Roy Davidson.

The men's singles championship was won by Johnny MacPherson, who battled his way to the final to dispose of Art Wagner.

Back row: Archibald, Roberts, May, Berg, Lerbekmo, Potter.

BOXING

After struggling valiantly under decreased membership and inconvenient surroundings, the Boxing Club wound up the season in a blaze of glory. Organized by club president Steele Brewerton, who was assisted by the Army Engineers, a tournament was successfully staged in January, before an appreciative gallery.

Featuring boxers Steele Brewerton, Glen Roberts, Dick May, Ken Nickerson, Verne Wellman, Lloyd Mallin, Jack Lerbekmo, Harold Archibald, Julian Thorsness and Andy Potter, the card was well arranged and smoothly executed. Brewerton and coach Alex. Wynnichuk rate congratulations.

Both boxing awards went, this year, to Steele Brewerton, one of the most experienced and certainly the most finished members of the club. The Wynnichuk trophy, a new award donated by the coach, went to Steele for the best performance of the tournament. The Wally Beaumont trophy, put up by the ex-M.A.B. president and boxing enthusiast, was also awarded to Steele as the man doing the most for boxing during the year.

WRESTLING

President Dick Corbet's wrestling club experienced more than a fair share of difficulty this year. Membership was desperately low, despite Corbet's enthusiastic efforts.

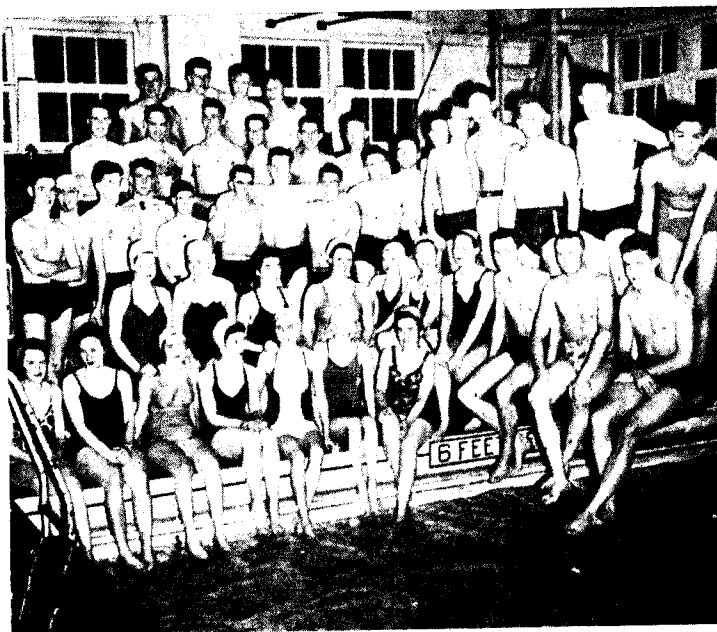

The club, in conjunction with the Boxing Club, helped stage a successful tournament in January. Dick Corbet and Cec. Mickelson put on a brisk bout before a cheering crowd. Mickelson took the first fall in five minutes, but Corbet came right back in less than a minute to end the contest in a draw. Club coach Emil Van Velzen and Pat Kimmitt gave an exhibition to round out the night.

The club merits credit for carrying on in the face of the many obstacles. Maybe next year. . . .

SWIMMING CLUB

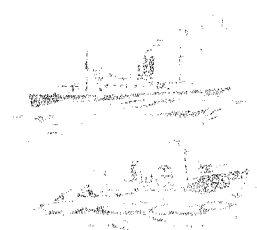

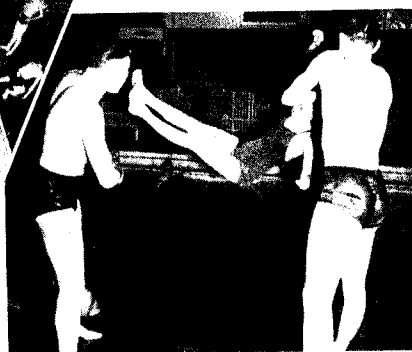

The Swimming Club, presided over by enthusiastic George Smith, was one of the most active sports organizations on the campus during the term just closed. Well over 100 aquatic addicts of varying abilities availed themselves of the opportunity to participate, at least 50 of whom could justifiably be called "regulars."

Sessions were held at the pool in the Y.W.C.A., with Thursday night the signal for the tank clan, male and female, to gather. The swimming club was fortunate this year in that excellent coaches in the persons of Jack Pomfret and George Nothstein, both of the R.C.A.F., were secured.

A couple of acquacades were run off, one in November and the second during February. On both occasions the chesty Engineers carried off the honors, although they were offered stiff competition by the Meds and the Dents in each of the tank tussles. Such fine water stars as "Bonny" Jackson, Hugh Rea, Bill McCormack, Alice Stewart-Irvine and more, highlighted the meets.

As their share of the February acquacade, the femmes tangled with the representatives of the Y.W.C.A. While beaten the green-and-gold mermaids contrived to make a good showing.

The men confined themselves strictly to interfaculty competition.

THE OUTDOOR CLUB

The Outdoor Club is one of the largest and most popular clubs on the campus with activity limited only by the weather. Membership is earned by active participation in club activities. It has a well-equipped cabin on the Saskatchewan River banks at the site of the Varsity Ski hill—about half a mile north of the University.

Among the year's improvements to the club's facilities may be noted the exterior coat of paint on the cabin and the clearing of a new toboggan run. A highlight of achievement was the fixing of the cabin well, but only after the removal of an unfriendly twig from the pump's assembly and chlorination to a healthful water supply. A great deal of praise goes to Gordon Gore-Hickman and his "army" boys for slashing, lopping, uprooting, hewing, tearing and breaking a wide gap through the woods to form the new toboggan slide.

The outstanding social event evolved as a Gala Winter Sports Weekend in January with a Skating Party, Sport's Dance and Skiing and Tobogganning Party on three successive days. This idea is to be fostered, for all indications show this would be a worth while annual affair.

As a thought for the future some of the "wide-eyed with experience" engineering members have suggested a Club Refrigerator in which to keep surplus snow in case old man winter again forgets to turn it on until February.

Literary

LITERARY ASSOCIATION

In an effort to co-ordinate organizations with literary aims, the Students' Council, years ago, formed the Literary Association. It, along with its component bodies—Philharmonic, Dramatic, Debating, Public Speaking and Political Science Societies—forms one of the largest extra-curricular activities on the Alberta campus.

During the past few years the Literary Association has suffered various setbacks due to stringent regulations imposed by the War Services Board. The colorful Philharmonic so well enjoyed over many years was the main casualty of 1943-44. However, the different societies struggled on throughout the term, accepting the various regulations and curtailments and made the year a successful one.

Talks by leading political figures in the Dominion featured the Political Science Club meetings. The Public Speaking Club and Debating Society held numerous gatherings which were relatively well attended. Dramatics carried on with the staging of the annual Inter-Year plays—the Spring Play being another war victim.

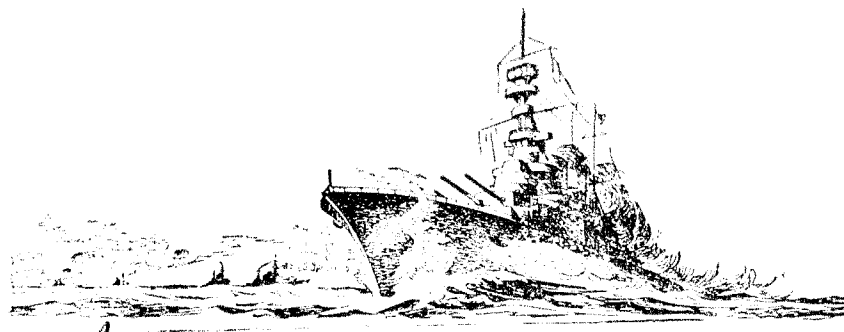

Of interest to many students was the Inter-Varsity Conference on Post War Problems held at Alberta and attended by British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba Universities. Students were selected by the Students' Council to represent Alberta at the meetings, the outcome of which was highly interesting and informative.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

After careful consideration the executive of the Political Science Club decided to offer a new type of program by having leading Canadian political personalities outline their party aims and platforms.

Early in October Tim Buck, leader of the Labor-Progressive Party, addressed a crowded amphitheatre in the Med Building. Mrs. Casselman, Liberal M.P. for Edmonton East, addressed a joint meeting of the Political Science and the Public Speaking Clubs in November. A few days later, M. J. Coldwell, National Leader of the C.C.F., spoke at a third meeting. Premier Manning outlined his party's stand at another gathering on January the twenty-eighth.

A petition of the Canadian Committee on Refugees for increased immigration met with but moderate success when sponsored on the Alberta campus by the Club—over 250 signatures being obtained.

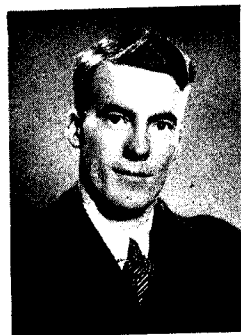

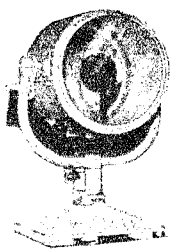

PUBLIC SPEAKING CLUB

Proving to be an increasingly popular entity of the Literary Association, the Public Speaking Club held regular meetings during the 1943-44 term. At these gatherings members were given the opportunity of airing their tonsils under the guidance of expert critics.

Numerous debates on matters of social and political interest were held throughout the year. A lively discussion always followed the formal debate.

Later public speaking was carried on through the introduction of mock parliaments, during which all participants were held to strict "House of Commons" form.

The Public Speaking Club co-operated throughout the year with the Debating and Political Science Clubs in order to get the most out of all programmes and the maximum of funds out of the Students' Council.

Many years ago when student moguls saw the numerous bull sessions—so unique to a university—taking place throughout these halls, they hit upon the idea of an organized set-to and called it the Debating Society.

Interest in this Society, although waning in recent years, became very strong last term. Numerous combined meetings were held with the Public Speaking Club and later Mock Parliaments were instituted. These proved very successful and brought out a number of students never before associated with the Club.

Garth Eggenberger and Mel Howey garnished up their best Law Club diction to successfully retain the Hugill Debating Trophy by defeating the Arts team of Drake Shelton and Shirley Diamond.

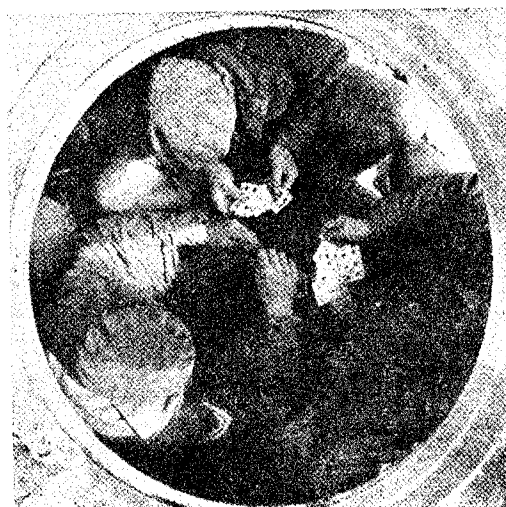

Not satisfied to restrict their fields of view to only Alberta, the Debating Society organized the Western Canadian University Conference on Post War Reconstruction, which was held in Edmonton on February 16, 17 and 18. Dick Corbet, Don Cormie, James Gander and Alf. Harper were Alberta's official representatives at the meetings.

Presentation of the Annual Inter-Year Play Competition of four one-act plays took place in February, instead of in the fall as in other years. This constituted the whole of the Dramatic Society's activity - there being no Spring Play in 1944.

The Sophomore Class, under the direction of Gordon Smith, won the judges' decision and the trophy for the best play in the competition. "Pyramus and Thisbe" from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was very successfully adapted by F. Drake Shelton. The play was given with gusto, the players catching the spirit of Shakespearean nonsense. Bob Pulleyblank, in the part of Bottom and Pyramus, won the popular vote for best actor. His voice had great range, was very flexible, and at all times was clear. It fitted every mood and action. Ernest Gander as Thisbe caused much merriment with his outlandish costume and falsetto voice.

The Junior Class won the popular vote for best play, with the production of "The Romance of the Willow Pattern" by Ethel Van der Veer, directed by Jim Spillios. Alice Ackroyd won the award as best actress for her part of Koong-See, the Mandarin's daughter. She was a lovely Chinese lady, frail, modest, mysterious and very young. Her tender expressive face, her delicate hands, her soft clear voice won everyone's heart. Jim Spillios as Chang was at home in his character, quiet, smooth, with gentle humor. Mr. Solberg as the Mandarin had to be the villain of the piece and provide comic relief as well.

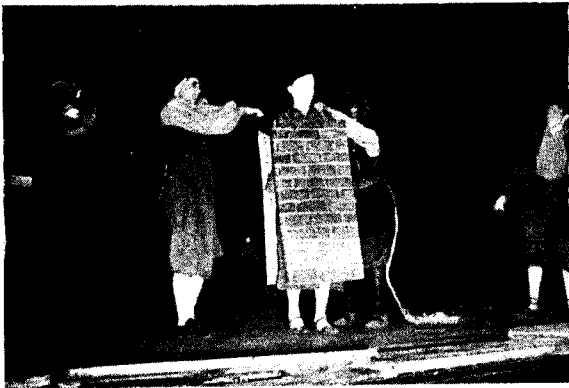

"The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" by James Barrie, was presented by the Senior Class, under the direction of Molly Hughes and Bernice Thompson. This play received a very favorable adjudication, and Mary Watson, who took the part of the "Old Lady" was second highest in the voting for "best actress." Jack Yates as Pte. Dowey did one of the best bits of acting of the whole evening. In their last scene together, he and Miss Watson showed the right sort of playful tenderness.

The Freshman play, "The Great Dark" by Don Tothorough, directed by Lois McLean, was pronounced to be the best Freshman production since 1921.

MARSHALL GRANT
President

An energetic Executive, backed up by enthusiastic members, carried out an interesting and successful program for the 1943-44 session. Meetings were well-attended, and instructive discussions were led by prominent speakers. Of special interest was the report by Dean Sinclair on the Food Conference held in Washington, D.C.

During the fall term the Nurses' Club joined with the Ag. Club in sponsoring an informal dance in Convocation Hall.

The most outstanding occasion of the year was the Agricultural Club Formal Dance held during January in the main ballroom of the Masonic Temple. Further business meetings and social gatherings were held during the spring term, the climax of which was the Annual Graduation Banquet.

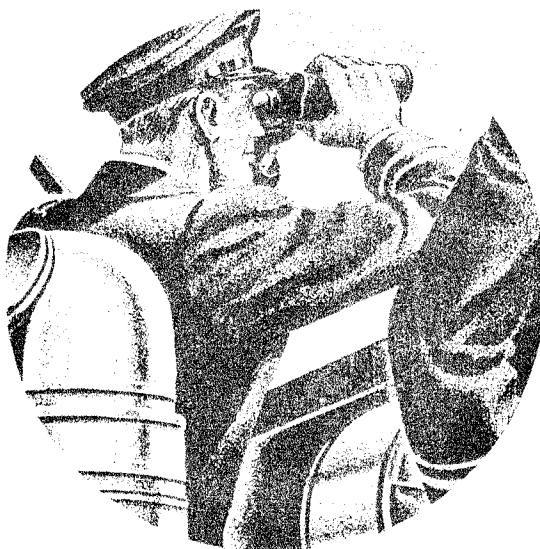

Under the able management of their Sports Representative the Ags. again took an active part in Interfaculty and Senior Athletics, thus keeping their reputation as a "live-wire" organization on the campus.

CO-ED CLUB

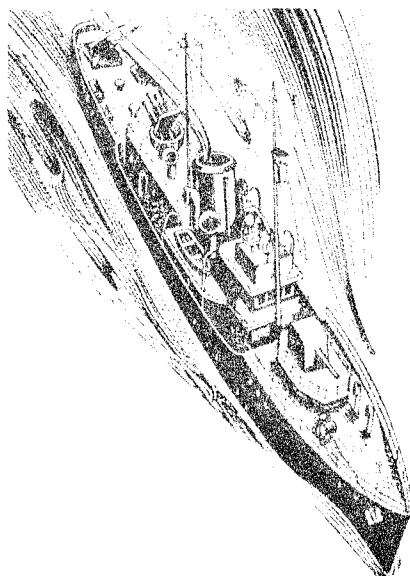

VERONA ELDER
Vice-President

This term saw the successful conclusion of two years of continuous activity for the Co-Ed Club. Formed in 1942, the club has a two-fold purpose: to promote University activities and to foster friendship and co-operation among Alberta co-eds.

When the House Dance Committee were in the depths of a struggle to keep their dances functioning on the campus, the Co-Ed Club pitched in to help by catering at these Saturday Evening sessions. So expert did they become at this chore that they were asked to help during Freshman Introduction week and at the C.O.T.C. Ball.

Social activities during the term included a hike to the Outdoor Cabin, a tea at the home of Miss Shauna Little and a dance in honor of the boys of the No. 2 Canadian Army Course now stationed at the University.

This energetic club, which in the past has provided many enjoyable times for its members, is filling a real need on this campus where the lack of its former residences is so sorely felt.

MORLEY TANNER

Although blessed with a fairly energetic executive, the Commerce Club during the past term tended to lose somewhat the active membership characteristics and the old school spirit which it had in the past. However, that which it lacked in the aforementioned qualities was made up for in generous donations of both time and effort by various members to extra-curricular and academic pursuits. The supper meetings and the Annual Banquet and Dance were functions which turned out to be real successes from a club viewpoint. The latter affair, held at the Corona Hotel on the 10th of March, ranked as always equally with any other club function sponsored on this campus. The three classes, Freshman, Junior and Senior were fully represented and those present enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

KENT HUTCHISON
Vice-President

The morale of the group was strengthened when in February their course was declared essential and not subject to the fifty per cent. wartime rule.

The club was fortunate during the past term to have as its Honorary President, Mr. G. A. Elliott, head of the Department of Political Economy. Mr. Elliott enjoys the reputation of being one of the foremost Canadian economists.

DENTAL UNDERGRADUATE SOCIETY

ALEX FERNET
Vice-President

Every Alberta Co-ed knows enough to keep her mouth shut whenever a Dent is present lest he sell her a new set of uppers. But besides having this timely control on women, the Dents boast one of the most active societies on the campus.

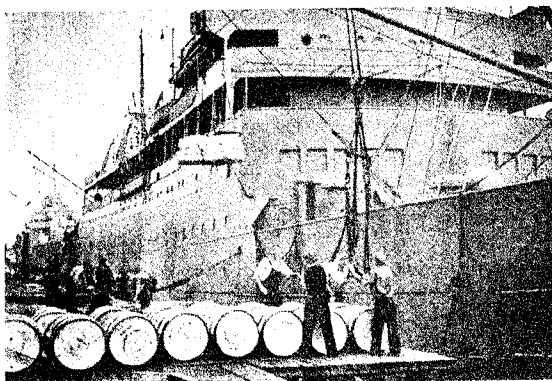

Early in October the first supper meeting was held at which the new members were introduced. Regular meetings were held monthly during the year. These included a business session, a guest speaker and usually refreshments.

Three main social functions were held: an informal dance in November, another in February, and the annual formal banquet and dance in March.

In December the D.U.S. was given a representative on the Students' Council after an application had been made. This filled a long felt need, as the Society had previously been represented through the Medical Society's Council Member.

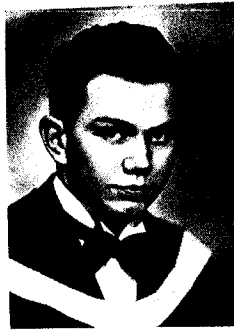

The presence of the D.U.S. was forcefully driven home to every soul adorning these halls when in February it launched a campaign to raise magazines for the armed forces. Wilf Cotter directed this drive and it proved highly successful with thousands of magazines being turned in.

With the present acceleration of the Dental course, the club has been functioning almost continually and its members in their last two years are in uniform.

""Holy Smokes!," cries Doc McEck,
'This Likker ration's tough, by heck;
I'll join the E.S.S.', he cries,
'A ration couldn't stop those guys'."

With such slogans as this, the Rule Pushers of the U. of A. started off one of the most eventful years in their history. War measures had increased the enrollment in their faculty and with so many restrictions placed on extra-curricular activity, the Beermen found themselves depending more than ever on their Society to make campus life more interesting.

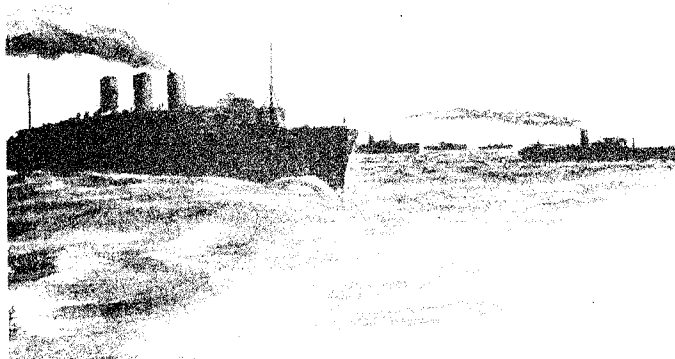

ANATOL ROSHKO
Vice-President

The annual informal party was held in November following a bean feast with the House Eccers the week before. . . Various election slates were organized when school spirit began to wane. . . The Umpteenth Annual Valentine party was thrown for "beloved" Poly-Ec profs. . . Many hard battles were fought for the Bulletin Sports Trophy. . . A new feature was introduced by choosing a Queen to reign at the 6th Annual Ball—the biggest event of the year, which rolled to even greater heights in 1944. . . Regular Smokers provided relaxation from standing in the Third Street line-ups. . . And finally the E.S.S. spring election and parade convinced the University that the Engineers still "don't give a damn for any damn man."

EDUCATION CLUB

ERMA McCOY
Vice President

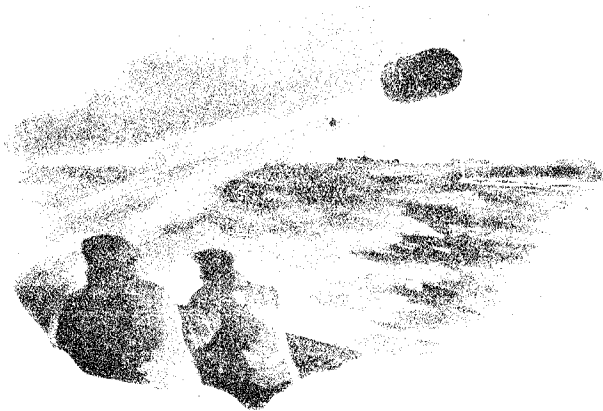

Besides spending their time in St. Joe's learning the most modern methods of wielding a hickory stick, the potential school masters get together to enjoy the fellowship of one of the most live-wire clubs on the campus. The prime purpose of the club is of a social nature although any modern techniques such as a new form of chalk-ducking or thumb-tack antilubricants are readily discussed.

During the past year the club made the most of its opportunities and staged a number of parties. The first of these was a real bang-up kids' party in which hop scotch, jacks and typical kids games flourished. Skits and refreshments completed the evening.

Then in January the Club held a Scavenger Hunt, followed by a hike to the Outdoor Cabin. The Annual Banquet was held at the end of the term with a mixture of fun and serious farewell.

Inter-year competition enlivened every meeting with a wide awake executive seizing every opportunity to make the gatherings more interesting. A cup was awarded at the end of the year to the class that had contributed the most.

Prizes were offered for the best faculty song and yell to help get this, Alberta's youngest Faculty, better established in the inter-faculty field.

PAULETTE JEGARD
President

In spite of the war the versatile House Eccers were able to "dove-tail" things in order that they might get together and mutually benefit each other.

Tradition was upset by starting the year off with the House Ec-Engineers' dance, and Engineers retaliated by giving their co-operation during Waw-Waw week by helping organize a rugby team which played against a squad of any and all the other girls on the campus.

To see what the future might have in store, the Club arranged to have guest speakers give several very interesting and instructive talks. Miss Tredger, Miss McQuaig and Mrs. Davidson, all recent graduates of this University, told about the possibilities in their respective fields. Major Levine, U.S.A.M.C., North-West Command, who is doing research work in vitamins, gave an insight into what could be done along that line of research. Miss Dorothy Stander, Kansas City Bridge Nutritionist, introduced another angle in the field of Nutrition when she told of feeding hundreds of men all along the Alaska Highway from instructions distributed from her Edmonton office. Commanding Officer Clark of the C.W.A.A.F. gave up-to-date information as to the work being done by the Nutritionists in her organization.

LAW CLUB AND QUARTERLY

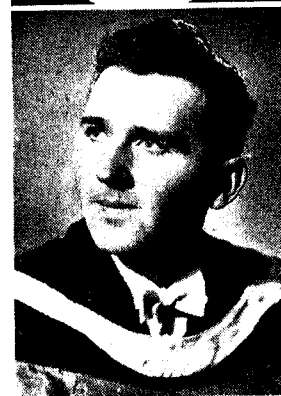

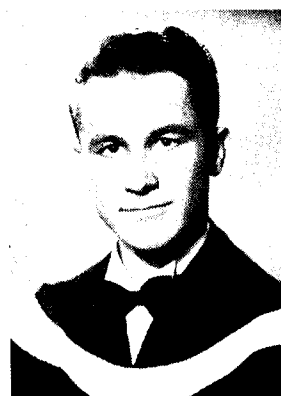

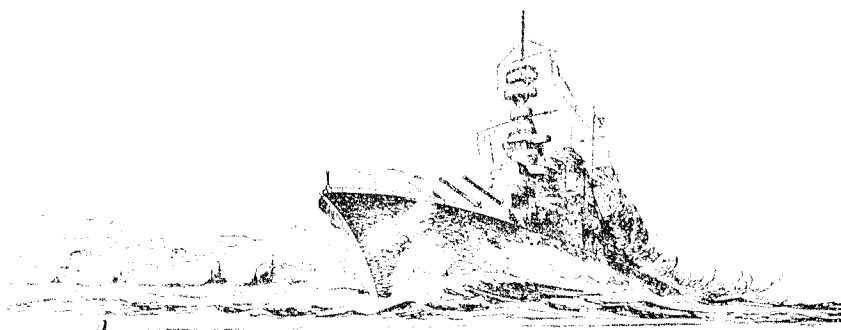

JESSE GOUGE
Vice-President

Law Club membership is limited to students in the Faculty of Law. This year, the membership has been reduced to seventeen. A luncheon was held before Christmas. Because of the size of the Club, and chiefly due to the difficulties of finding suitable accommodation the annual Spring Banquet had to be forsaken; but to take its place a party was held at the home of Dean MacIntyre in early March.

Again in traditional style the Law Club came forward with the true Christmas spirit and collected a substantial sum for the Christmas Fund. The members of the Club staged their version of the "Pistol Packing Mamma" at the Garneau theatre during the "Ladies' Daze" week—a performance that was the subject of conversation on the campus for weeks. Moot courts and evening lectures have captured the attention of the majority of the students. The Club undertook the job of compiling an index to the manuscript of the late Dean Weir.

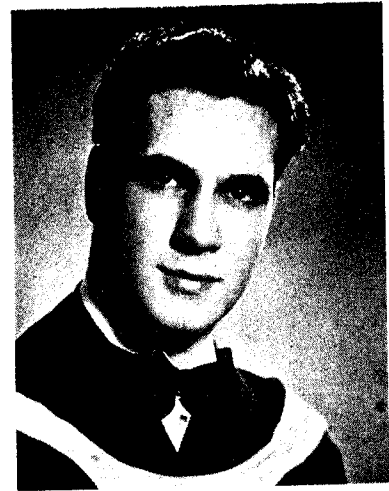

The Alberta Law Quarterly has this year completed its tenth successive year under the direction of Dean MacIntyre. The editorial board consists of all the students, whereas Colin Heseltine and Roger Belzil hold the positions of Business Manager and Assistant Business Manager, respectively.

MEN'S "POLY-EC" CLUB

A quiet and unassuming body, the Men's Economics Club completed during the 1943-44 term its 14th season on the campus of the University of Alberta. Membership in the club is restricted by its constitution to fifteen actives, while members of the Department of Political Economy sit as honorary members. During the past term meetings were held at which papers were presented dealing with current topics which are now enjoying the limelight of international economic thought. The discussion periods which followed each presentation helped considerably to stir up among the student members an active interest in the various topics. The third meeting of the term was held in conjunction with the Women's Economics Club and proved to be the highlight of a very successful year.

WOMEN'S "POLY-EC" CLUB

The Women's Economics Club (B.G.B.) this year marks its fifth year of existence. The members, made up of women students taking senior Economics courses, meet once a month at professors' homes. A paper is presented at each meeting by a senior student. Such topics as: "Comparison of the Beveridge Report and the Marsh Plan," by K. Hutchison; "Family Allowances in Canada," by J. Pearson; "Modes of Transportation in England," by M. Rorke; "Industrial Co-operatives in China," by W. Kerr; and "Women in the Post-War World," by L. Pearson have been presented and discussed this year. A very successful meeting was held jointly with the Men's Economics Club.

L'année 1943-44 a été parmi les meilleures dans l'histoire du Cercle Français. Une cinquantaine de membres ont assisté aux réunions dans une salle du collège St.-Joseph. Le programme, entre les mains d'un comité enthousiaste, a été instructif et intéressant. Sous la direction de M. Cru, aidé de notre pianiste officielle, Mlle. Tanner, les étudiants ont beaucoup apprécié les chansons françaises. La variété des causeries explique le secret de l'intérêt montré par les membres présents. Mlle. McCoy a parlé de son séjour à Trois Pistoles; M. Sonet, de la France et des préjugés étrangers, Mlle. Primeau, de l'héroïsme de Madeleine de Verchères. M. Cru a donné ses impressions de voyages en France; M. de Savoye a indiqué comment le français a pénétré dans la langue anglaise, et Mme. Cru a fait une causerie sur les costumes des provinces. Un film français sur Orleans et ses environs a eu un succès considérable. Quelques petites scènettes et des jeux français ont mis de l'entrain aux réunions. Une soirée sociale a terminé le programme de l'année.

MINING AND GEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

With students so often referring to this University as a prison, it is not surprising that a Society interested in rocks and rock-breaking should be one of the oldest on this campus -- the Mining and Geological Society having been formed in 1912. The Society is affiliated with the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, and a number were Junior Members of this parent body.

Meetings, held regularly twice each month, were very well attended by the small, but active membership of twenty-one students. The meetings featured a short movie of an educational nature or a paper, either by a student or an outsider actively engaged in mining or geological practice.

The Society endeavors to promote a feeling of good will and understanding among its own members as well as with members of similar societies in other Canadian Universities.

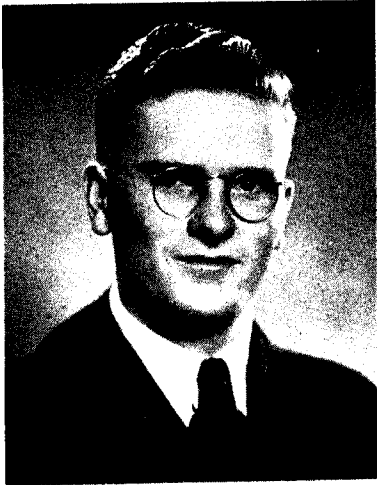

UNIVERSITY CHOIR

Under the direction of Miss Gwyneth Jones, the University Choir has continued its successful career throughout the 1943-44 season.

Contrary to popular belief, the choir does not exist primarily for the singing of secular and religious songs but is more on the style of a university glee club.

Every Saturday afternoon the group rehearsed in St. Stephen's auditorium and took part in many functions of University interest. These potential "Fred Warings" were regular guests on the Evergreen and Gold program which was broadcast regularly over CKUA. They also sang at many S.C.M. meetings and took part in church services overtown.

MEDICAL UNDERGRADUATE SOCIETY

JIM METCALFE
Secretary-Treasurer

The Medical Undergraduate Society has again completed a year under "forced draft." This is the fourth session under the speed-up course for medical students. Due to the acceleration the courses are now just one year ahead of normal, with the Class of '45 graduating this spring and the Class of '46 next December.

A five months' summer holiday is a thing of the past and of the future, but its absence has not served to dampen the enthusiasm of the members of the Society, as evidenced by the heated discussions participated in by one and all at the regular monthly meetings. During the year the Society has been privileged to hear several prominent speakers and to see many instructional medical films.

George Christie and Iain Younger represented Alberta at the convention in Toronto of the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Interns. On returning they gave to the Society some very comprehensive reports on the agenda which included addresses by medical directors of the three branches of the Armed Forces, an account of Soviet Medicine, and a discussion of National Health Insurance. The project allotted to Alberta is a survey of conditions for interns in Canadian hospitals.

No session (dropping the term "year", since under the acceleration it is quite confusing) would be complete in the eyes of a Med without the Banquet and Ball which again this year proved to be a smashing success.

The Meds' weekly program was rounded out by military instruction from officers and N.C.O.'s of the army.

MARGARET CAMMAERT

Named in the honor of the first director of the School of Nursing at the University, the McLeod Club is composed of those student nurses aspiring to a B.Sc. in Nursing. These nurses can easily be identified in social gatherings as when twelve o'clock draws near they can be seen heading for the nearest exit in order to beat the deadline at St. Steph's.—this state of affairs causing no end of confusion this year what with Engineers rushing to beat hourly draws.

Besides regular informal gatherings in which to discuss their operations and to hash over the cutest patients for the day—the club has had some very interesting and successful meetings. One of these included an address by Major Victor E. Levine, of the United States Army Medical Corps.

The annual spring banquet proved to be an interesting and successful one with Vera Reddekopp and her Quiz Show providing unusually enjoyable entertainment.

STUDENT NURSES UNION

MARG. CLENDENAN
Vice President

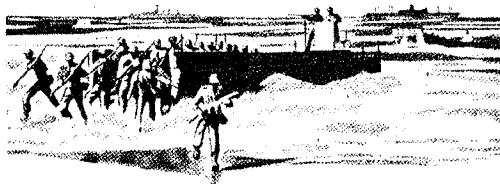

While most nurses—both B.Sc. and Diploma Nurses—are members of the University Students' Union, they have an additional organization called the Student Nurses' Union which functions much like any other Faculty club.

This club has a very busy program which carries on throughout the year. At least one social function a month was held last term including such get-togethers as Christmas and Valentine parties, dances and banquets. In March the annual graduation banquet and dance was a highlight of the year and a credit to those undergraduate nurses in charge of arrangements.

Basketball flourished in the realms of nursing this past year under the able direction of Mrs. Robinson (the former Noel Macdonald), providing excellent relaxation and exercise.

Last year the energetic Nurses gained two such desired privileges and the introduction of capes filled a long felt need.

The Student Nurses' Union is fulfilling its purpose in furthering the cause of nursing generally and insuring the status of student nurses on the campus.

BOB SHAW

High in the garret on the top of the Arts Building there dwells a galaxy of students learning why Lydia Pinkham makes vegetable pills, and brewing the deadliest of "Kickapoo" joy juices. It is here, enveloped in the mysteries of hair tonic and hand lotion, that the Pharmacy Club holds forth.

This year the School of Pharmacy has had the smallest enrollment on record—a total of eighteen students. Club activity continued at its usual high pace, however, and the "Pill-Peddlers" enjoyed an interesting year.

PRUDENCE BAMLETT
Vice-President

A supper meeting, held at the Corona Hotel, started off the term. Addresses were given by Mr. W. Sprague—the Representative to the School of Pharmacy of the Alberta Pharmaceutical Association, Miss Wannop—the new assistant in the Pharmacy Department and Dr. Matthews—the Director of Pharmacy.

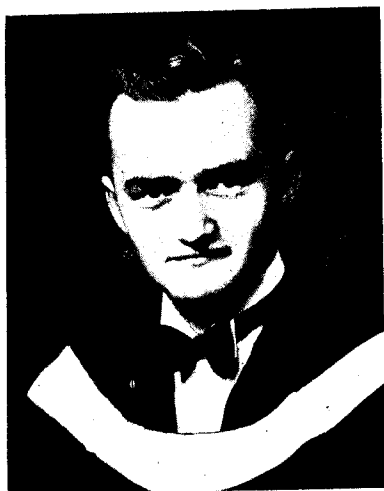

Numerous other parties and meetings were held throughout the year—all of which were well attended.

In times like these, with such decreased enrollment, it is hard to keep the spirit of the Pharmacist alive but this sturdy little nucleus is working hard, so that in post-war years this club will again be the stalwart group it once was.

The Musical Club is one of numerous campus organizations which aim to provide entertainment for the public at large as well as the University student body. From a small faculty group of music lovers it has grown rapidly over a period of twelve years, to become one of the largest university associations, its membership having climbed to 350 during the past season. In accordance with a plan adopted last year surplus funds have again been set aside to be used later in the purchase of a piano for the club. This year, in pursuance of its aim to both study and enjoy good music, the club presented a series of programs featuring the music of various great nations as exemplified by their most outstanding composers.

HART CANTELON
President

Much of the credit for an enlarged membership and increased vitality within the Student Christian Movement this year goes to Hart Cantelon who filled admirably the position of president without the backing of a local secretary. Hart was Alberta's delegate to National Council this summer.

During the pre-Christmas term the S.C.M. operated the Book Exchange as usual, and held a weekend conference based on the theme: "Christianity at the Heart of the World Community." During the rest of the year, the executive tried to formulate its program so as to indicate the indispensable part which Christianity plays in the individual lives of the students.

HAZEL MOORE
Vice-President

Two study groups were in progress throughout the term: "Jesus in the Records," and "Understanding Ourselves." Several Sunday services were sponsored by the organization throughout the year.

Sleigh-riding, skating, and evening parties were welcome relaxation, and a banquet in the spring provided the climax to a full year's program. Firesides were highlighted with the slinging of refreshments.

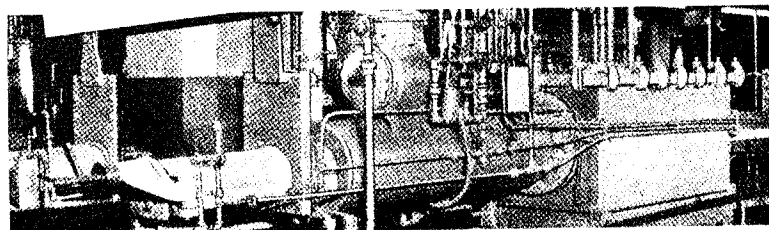

The S.C.M. co-operated with the Student Committee of the University Christian Mission.

As exams. drew nigh, the S.C.M.'ers dreamt of spring camp and the fun and recreation they enjoy in the out-of-doors.

With headquarters in St. Joseph's College, the Newman Club offers service to every Catholic student in the University. A wide variety of activities is carried on throughout the year.

Religious functions, including monthly Communion Sundays with noted guest priests, were held in St. Joseph's College. All members attended the annual three-day retreat which proved helpful in strengthening their religious practices.

Considerable contribution to the education of the club members was accomplished by study groups, open forums, guest speakers and tutorials.

The social activities of the Newman Club are many and varied. A Newman Club Formal is held yearly. Other functions include bi-monthly meetings followed by a social evening in St. Joe's library, a skating party, informal dance or tobogganing party.

COLOR

NIGHT

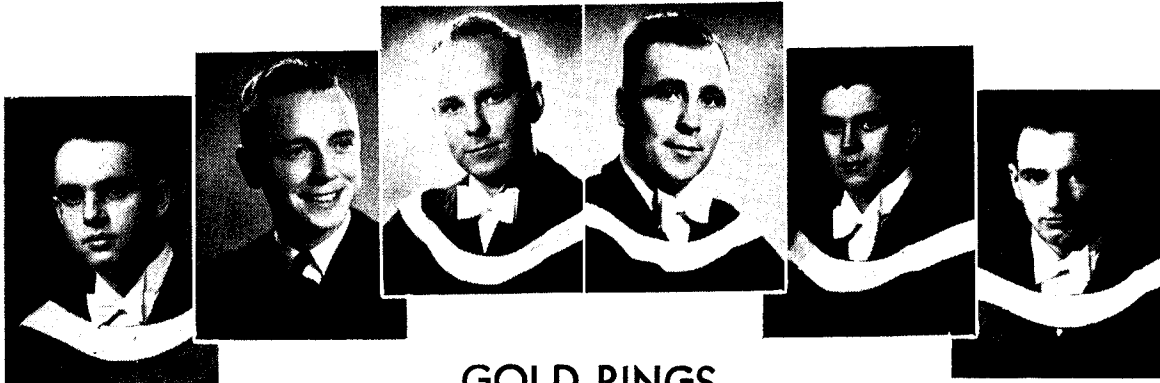

For four years now, Alberta has singled out one night in which to honor a few of those who have given of their time and ability to foster extra-curricular activities on the campus. Color Night is coming to be the paramount event of the year and after its fifth appearance on the campus its permanence as a Varsity function seems assured.

Color Night is Alberta's chance to thank her servants and to honor her heroes. It is a concrete tribute to a deserving few. Just as a stimulating good night kiss climaxes an eventful evening so does Color Night terminate the extra-curricular year.

Staged, as it was this year, within the limited facilities of the Macdonald Hotel, Color Night is open only to award winners and a handful of others. Those fortunates who were able to attend this year will never forget the colorful decorations . . . President Newton's address . . . Bruce MacKay's steady tramp to and from the award table . . . those prized programs . . . the first presentation of the Broadfoot Award . . . "Diapers" Harper bidding farewell to "Father Time" Amerongen . . . that touching speech of Stan Moher's . . . and an evening brim-full of the best.

A MESSAGE

from the

Commanding Officer

HIS HONOR LT. COL. J. C. BOWEN
Honorary Colonel

This is the fifth year of a world war and the strain on the manpower of the nation is becoming acute. It is reflected in the gradual diminution in the number of male students in the University, even in those courses which are considered essential by the authorities at Ottawa. Many present are not of fit physical category for active service. Many of those who are fit are leaving us for active duty after spending a year to secure a foothold in their University course, which will stand them in good stead when the great struggle is over.

The University of Alberta Contingent of the Canadian Officers Training Corps is continuing to function as it has in the past. Last year about fifty members of the unit left to complete their study for Commissions in the Army. Since the war started nearly four hundred members of our unit have obtained Commissions in some branch of the Active Service.

We wish to welcome another Training Unit to the campus, the University Naval Training Division. The advent of the senior Service on the campus completes our training units for the different services. The Navy, Army and Air Force are now all drawing potential officers from the ranks of the University and are receiving their preliminary training while still students.

I wish you all the very best of luck in whichever branch of the service you wish to pit your strength and skill against the enemy.

(P. S. Warren) Lieutenant Colonel,
Officer Commanding,
University of Alberta Contingent,
Canadian Officers Training Corps.

MAJOR H. J. TOWERTON
Chief Instructor

The C.O.T.C. carried on during the session of 1943-44 as the army training unit on the Campus, and gave military training to freshmen and sophomores who elected it in preference to the navy and air force. All military training was done this year by the C.O.T.C., the Auxiliary battalion having virtually ceased to exist. The announcement by the Department of National Defence, however, that their need for officers has been met adequately for the time, has led in the C.O.T.C. to a much greater emphasis on basic training. Consequently the C.O.T.C. is doing all the work formerly done by both units.

Lieut-Colonel P. S. Warren has continued as the Commanding Officer, but Major G. M. Smith, the Second-in-Command, has been granted leave of absence during his absence from the University. Major H. J. Towerton of the Edmonton Fusiliers (M.G.) has been the Chief Instructional Officer, and under him Majors Francis Owen and W. G. Hardy of the C.O.T.C. have been in charge respectively of senior and junior training. Major West has been Paymaster and Captain J. W. Scott (R.C.A.M.C.) Medical Officer. Captain C. R. Tracy has been Adjutant, 2nd Lieut. G. A. Elliott, Assistant Adjutant and Treasurer, and Lieut. A. Stewart, Quartermaster.

The four companies have been under the command of Lieut. W. H. Johns (A Coy.), 2nd Lieut. G. J.

The unit camp in 1943 was held as usual at Camp Sarcee between the 2nd and 16th May. In spite of cold weather and snow which drove some of the companies out of their tents and into buildings, the two weeks were a great success. The most memorable occasion was a demonstration of a company attack, using all company weapons loaded with live ammunition, put on by the School of Instruction at Currie Barracks. A camp which we hope will be equally successful will be held this year about the same time.

Amerongen (B Coy.), Lieut. W. G. Broadfoot (C Coy.), and 2nd Lieut. J. N. Willson (D Coy.). Mr. H. W. Harries has been Regimental Sergeant Major. The regimental orderly room has been in charge of C.S.M. A. Croft and the Quartermaster's Stores in that of C.Q.M.S. J. B. Robb. Sgt. D. Cruickshank has assisted the instructional officers.

The winter's training has been very successful. Plentiful equipment has been available, especially infantry weapons of all descriptions. Major Owen and Lieut. Johns, who attended the Small Arms School at Nanaimo during the summer of 1943 gave especially valuable service in the weapon-training. Training in Protection against Gas has been given to the whole unit, and 2nd Lieut. D. S. Harvie, who attended the Gas School at Nanaimo also in the summer of 1943, did invaluable work.

2 Lt. D. Storey (Mess President), Capt. C. R. Tracy, Capt. F. W. Newlands, Major F. Owen, Major A. West, Lt. Col. P. S. Warren, Major Towerton, Major W. G. Hardy, Lt. A. Stewart, Lt. G. A. Elliott.

One very interesting activity which was new this year was the entering of a team in the annual Small-bore Rifle Competition organized by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. Four teams of five men each were entered by the C.O.T.C., and matches were shot in January, February and March. The Cooley 22 Cal. rifle was used, and the matches were shot on the I. T. S. range.

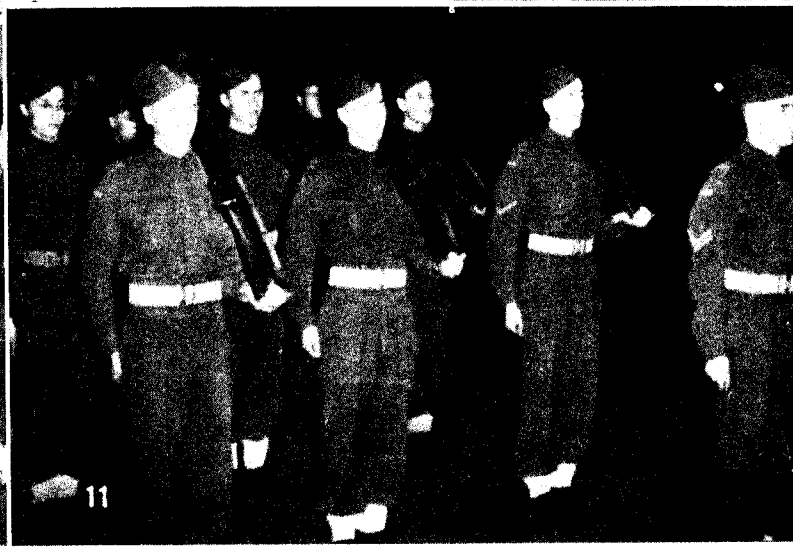

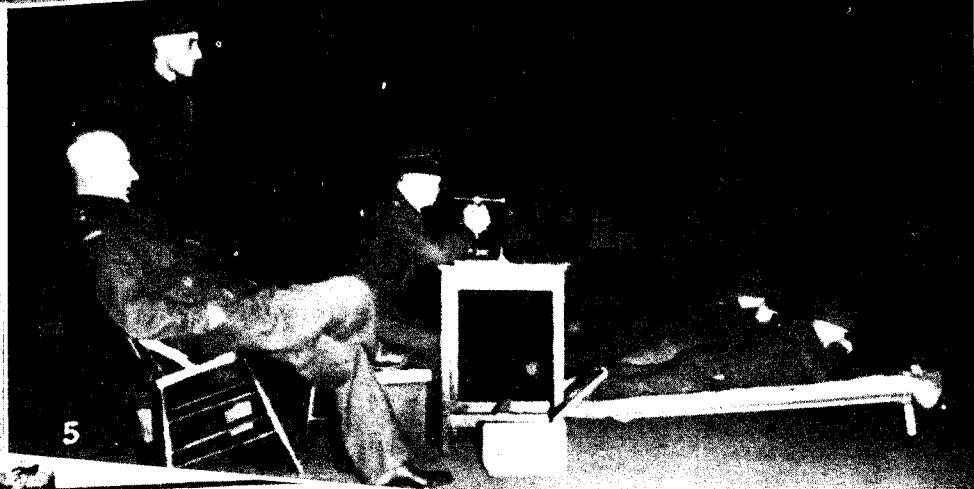

On 14 January, 1944, the unit revived the practice, dormant since the outbreak of war, of holding a dance for all ranks. It was held in the gymnasium of the I. T. S., and was a great success.

UNIVERSITY AIR TRAINING CORPS

FLYING OFFICER McMILLAN

This session saw the completion of the second year of operation of the University Air Training Corps. Organized in 1942, to provide air force training to undergraduate students, the unit offered a full program to those who entered its ranks.

Training was expanded to cover two years, the unit being organized into two squadrons, each working on a separate year of the syllabus of training. Subjects taught corresponded to the pre-air school curriculum of the R.C.A.F. and included: Navigation, Signals, Mathematics, Engines, Aircraft Recognition, Theory of Flight, squad drill and revolver firing. Instruction was given by the instructional staff of the University, by the R.C.A.F. personnel posted to the unit and by the instructional staff from No. 4 I.T.S. and No. 2 A.O.S.

Such training, as given here, proved of great benefit to personnel proceeding on to active service.

In the spring of 1943, forty-six U.A.T.C. members entered the R.C.A.F. and from all reports, they are doing extremely well.

FT.-SGT. RADFORD

University staff members in the unit include Squadron Leader R. M. Hardy, commanding officer, and Flight Lieutenants F. M. Salter and H. R. Thornton. Among the R.C.A.F. personnel posted to the unit for administrative and training purposes are Flying Officer A. W. McMillan, Flight Sergeant W. F. Erdman and Flight Sergeant F. S. Radford.

Promotions were made to N.C.O. rank on the basis of merit and included the following: F.S. Agnew, G. C.; Sgt. McCormack, W. B.; Cpl. Davidson, R. M.; Cpl. Harris, O. W.; Cpl. Livingstone, D. D.; Cpl. McGune, V. E.; Cpl. Nyberg, V. R.; Cpl. Richards, A. J.; Cpl. Roshko, A.; Cpl. Stothert, W. D.; Cpl. Weekes, J. G.

Providing relief from a strenuous session of training, a formal dance was held in November at No. 4 I.T.S. by the kind permission of W.C. E. G. McPherson, Commanding Officer. The orchestra from No. 4 I.T.S. provided the music. Then, upon completion of the winter's training, a smoker was held for all ranks.

On November 19th, 1943, an attestation ceremony was held at which the new recruits gave their oath of Allegiance.

Flight trips were arranged for the three men in each squadron who rated the highest in the winter's training. These were provided through the courtesy of Captain W. R. May of the No. 2 A.O.S., R.C.A.F.

Upon completion of their university exams, members of the unit attended a two-weeks' camp period at one of the air schools in No. 4 Command.

The heavy training program was undertaken cheerfully by all personnel and a high degree of enthusiasm manifested itself throughout the season.

U.N.T.D.

LT.-COM. A. W. MATTHEWS

UNIVERSITY NAVAL TRAINING DIVISION

LT.-COM. DAWSON

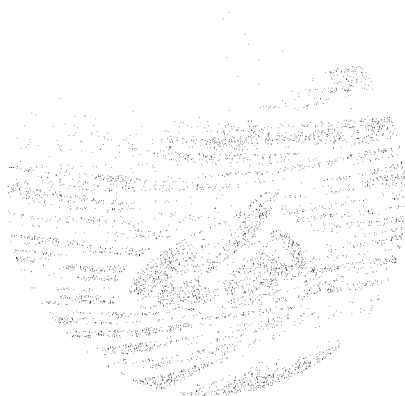

SUB.-LT. LORRIMAN

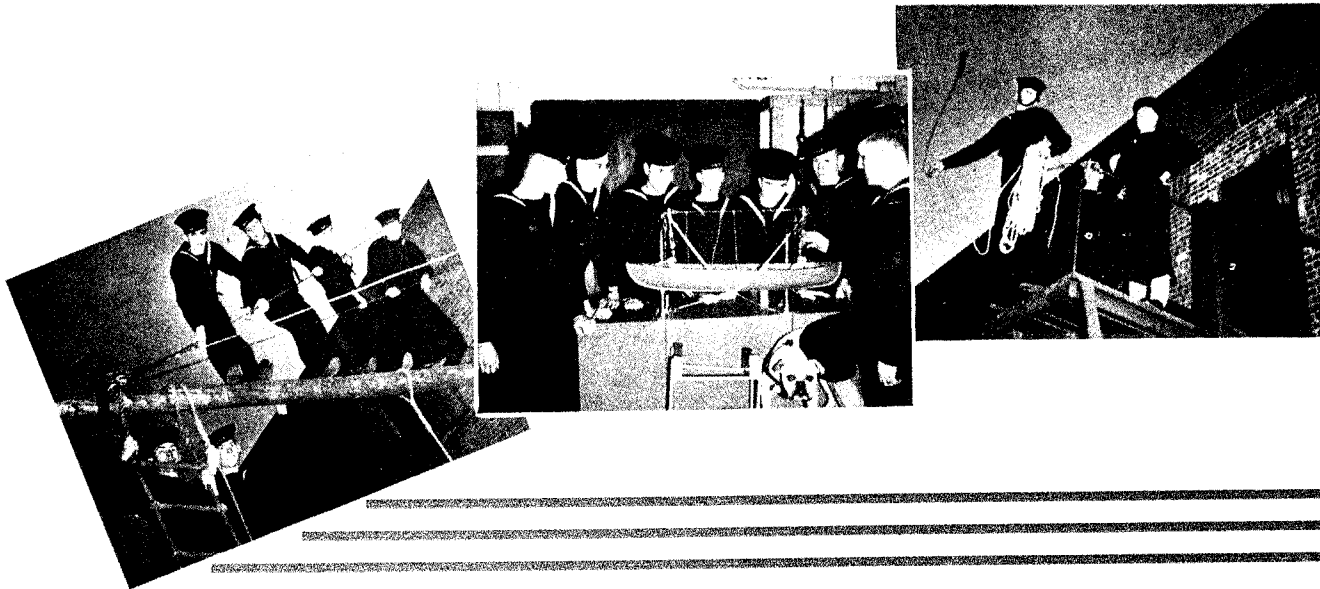

Organized in March, 1943, the University of Alberta Naval Training Division has taken its place on the campus alongside the other units providing service training for students. The Rodney Division, recruited last spring, found its strength somewhat depleted by transfers to active service during the summer months and consequently was smaller than the new Nelson Division. Ratings in the latter division included new students and upperclassmen who changed over to Navy from other service units on the campus.

Students joining the U.N.T.D. are attested in the Naval Service and are kitted as R.C.N.V.R. ratings. They are attached to the Divisional Strength of H.M.C.S. "NONSUCH", Edmonton. The U.N.T.D. ship's office is located at 118 St. Joseph's, where the R.C.N.V.R.

Radio Course ratings and Petty Officers provide plenty of Navy atmosphere. The facilities of "NONSUCH", including the new drill hall and the summer camp at Lake Wabamum, are also available to U.N.T.D.

The first year syllabus of training included squad and rifle drill, seamanship, practical work in upper deck signals, and lectures on the Naval Service, parts and types of ships, strategy and tactics, etc. Regular training officers and instructors of "NONSUCH" assisted with the training, the burden of the lecturing being in the hands of the Divisional Officer, Sub-Lieut. C. A. Lorriman.

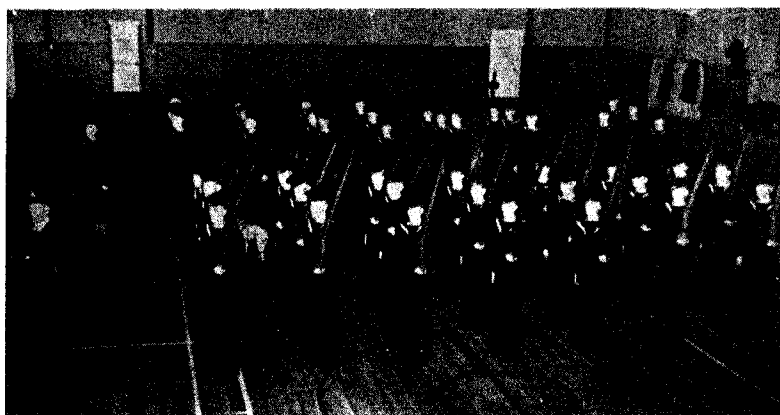

Leading Seaman Hembling had his divisions in good form early in the fall when they took part in the Fifth Victory Loan Parade and also joined with the ship's company of H.M.C.S. "NONSUCH" in a church parade. The year's training will be rounded out by two weeks of practical training at a Coast Naval Station immediately following the spring examinations.

Some U.N.T.D. ratings have already been selected for Officer Candidate classes and still others will appear before a Selection Board when they transfer to active service in May. A few undergraduate ratings have expressed intention to "go active" at the end of the session. Engineering students who volunteer to do so may take advantage of the Navy's plan for practical summer training aboard ship. While on active service they are classed as Acting E.A. (or E.R.A.) 4th Class and revert to Stokers, 2nd Class, when they return to U.N.T.D. Stokers Alston, Challis, MacDonald and McBride, who spent the summer of 1943 on the eastern seaboard, will enter active service as Probationary Sub-Lieutenants in the Engineering Branch upon graduation in May, 1944.

During this introductory year, the training program has been the same for all ratings. Lieutenant Commander (SB) A. W. Matthews, the Commanding Officer, has stated, however, that plans call for progressive training in future years. Thus a rating after two or three years of U.N.T.D. training will be in a position to obtain accelerated advancement in the Navy on entering active service.

MISS M. PATRICK

WOMEN'S

The year 1943-44 saw the co-eds on the Alberta campus continuing cheerfully and energetically to obtain the compulsory 60 hours of war work. Some new and interesting changes were made and senior students were credited with war hours for participation in athletics. This was done in co-operation with the Women's Athletic Association under the direction of Miss Foskett. More interest was thus added to women's sports on the campus, and they greatly benefited.

This year the "SQUA -squa attenSHUN!" came from feminine voices. The Women's Army Division was instructed by girls who had qualified as instructors last year. Another new feature of drill was the precision squad. This year's training included rifle drill with some of the girls becoming quite skilled in the art. The more expert shots were encouraged to shoot for their bronze and silver medals, for which a few of the unit qualified.

First Aid and Home Nursing were again given with many girls obtaining medallions.

The Drill Hall canteen got off to an early start under the capable direction of Hazell Moore, with Joan Butterfield as treasurer. Although they were unable to obtain doughnuts for the major part of the year, a source of supply was finally found, to the satisfaction of all concerned. The canteen ran smoothly and operated on a basis which enabled it to donate money to other war services.

WAR SERVICES

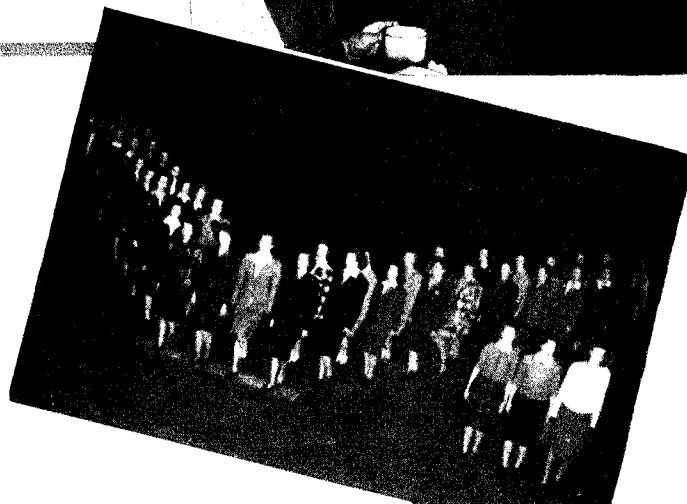

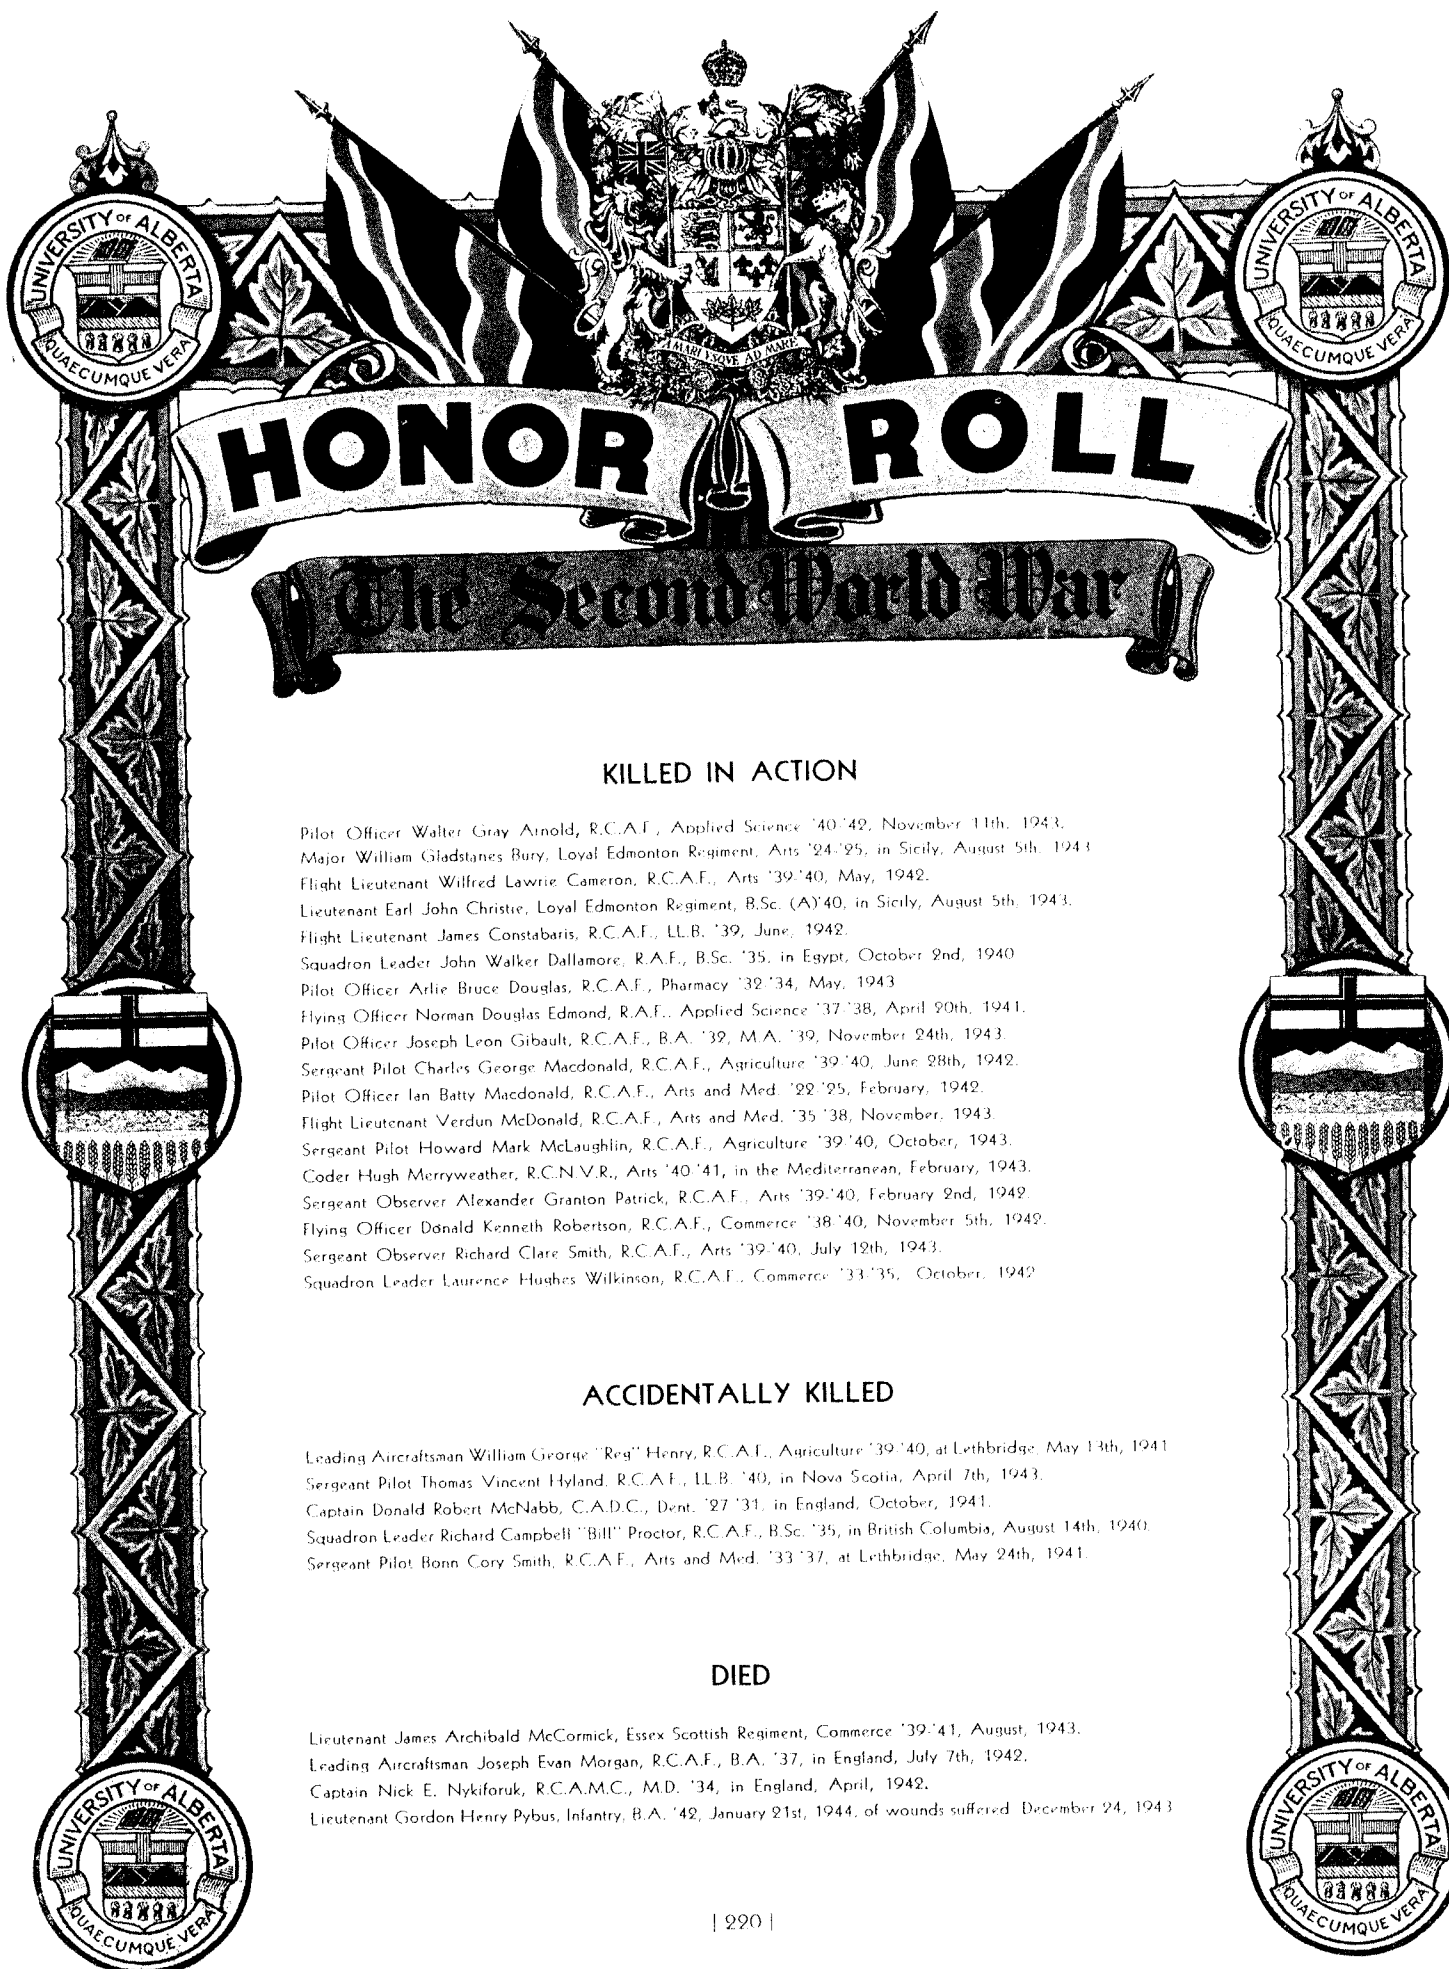

Some girls worked at the Y.M.C.A. canteen under the leadership of Audrey Peppre, while others worked under Hazel Moore at the Canadian Legion War Services Hut and at the "Sally Ann".

Red Cross work was carried on under the leadership of Doris Hewson, and much valuable assistance was rendered.

Miss Lillian Thompson, Secretary of the Edmonton Council of Social Agencies, again organized a ten-lecture course on Social Service. These proved of great interest, especially to those women who plan a career in this work.

Into the above activities each Alberta Co-ed contributed over two hours of every week, thus sharing wartime training with the men.

Another Shortage?

On almost every hand they had to be faced . . . shortages of paper . . . reduced quotas of metal for cuts . . . shortages of film. What wasn't subject to reduction? Yes, there was an exception; that loyal group of business and professional men, merchants and producers, who have continued to back our efforts through the years, and who stood ready once more to assist in the production of another volume of Evergreen and Gold. This section of the book is the expression of their good faith.

We know you will remember their essential contribution toward providing your "log" for 1944.

"ONE OF CANADA'S GREAT NEWSPAPERS"

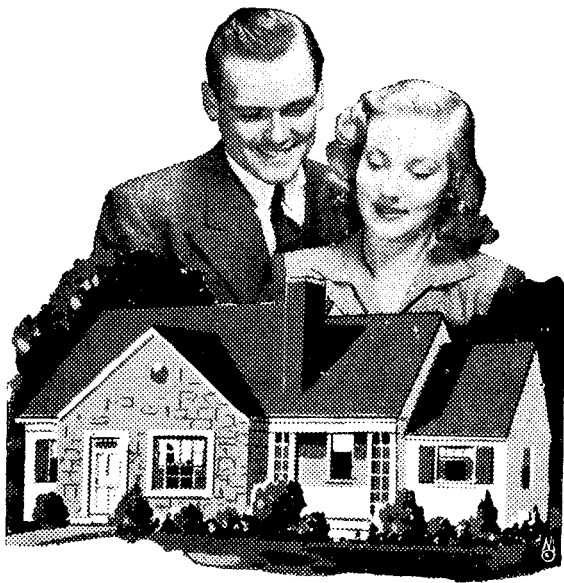

Research

. . . in the NATURAL GAS INDUSTRY

Despite severe shortages of materials and manpower, the Gas Industry rates 1943 as a year of marked achievement. While essential civilian services in the home and elsewhere were maintained, facilities were expanded to increase the output of gas fuel needed by industry to meet every requirement of the war emergency, without curtailment of supply.

Until Victory is won, the greater part of the operations of the laboratories will undoubtedly continue to be devoted to direct war work. In addition, however, an extensive program of domestic gas research is under way and right now in the laboratories of the gas industry engineers are working on many miracles of better living in the home . . . all made possible by the magic of the tiny blue gas flame—the flame that cools as well as heats.

Today, GAS is speeding war production tomorrow, it will make your home a more comfortable place than you ever dreamed it could be. You can hasten the day by buying all the war savings certificates and war bonds you can.

Wartime Harvesting in Britain with self-propelled combines

Massey-Harris Self-Propelled Combine

A Great Help in Wartime Grain Growing

With its great harvesting ability, ease of handling, and saving of manpower, the Massey-Harris self-propelled combine has proved a boon to many farmers. In Britain's wartime food production program a considerable number of Massey-Harris self-propelled machines have been used to great advantage.

The ability of the Massey-Harris self-propelled to harvest successfully sun-flowers, soybeans, and seed crops, as well as the coarse grains, has made the growing of many specialty crops easier and more profitable.

Only one man is required for the grain tank type self-propelled, one motor supplies power for propelling and operating, there is no over-riding of the grain when opening up a field, and unripe portions of the field can be easily left for harvesting later.

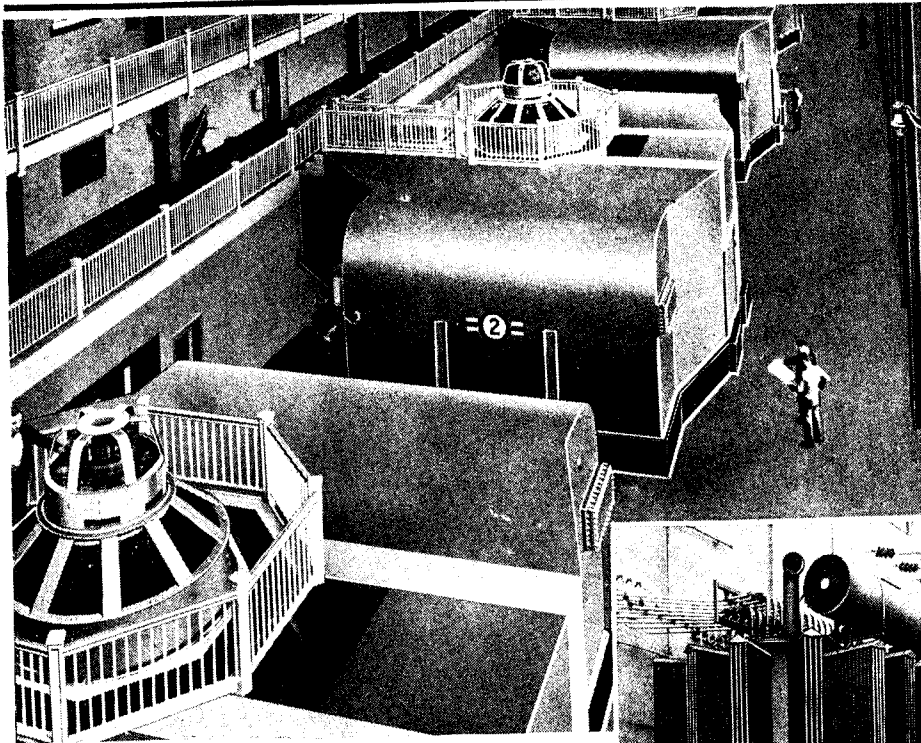

For easier, speedier, and more economical harvesting—use a Massey-Harris self-propelled combine.

POWER TO WIN

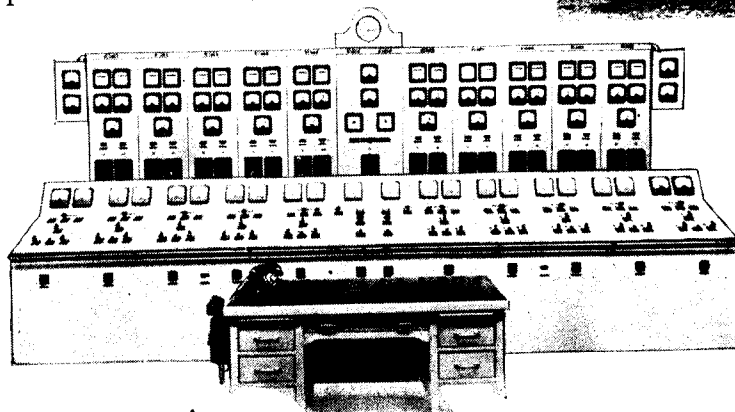

◀ These 40,000 kva General Electric vertical waterwheel-driven generators, with enclosed water-cooled ventilation system, supply power to important war industries.

Bank of 9400 kva 13,200—639 volt General Electric transformers at a large Canadian metallurgical plant.

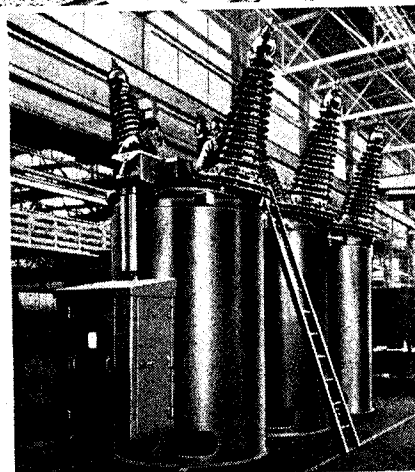

● Vital to Victory — essential to the success of Canada's vast industrial war production program — is an abundance of electrical power! Canadian General Electric, with exceptional experience and facilities, is playing an impressive part in equipping great new generating stations and in supplying the apparatus to route and distribute to war factories the power these stations produce.

▲ This G-E panelboard controls electric power circuits at a well known war plant.

You will probably run into a lot of "asparagus" in the world of business . . . temporary barriers in your march to eventual success. One such barrier is carelessness in handling money. A sure way to avoid it is to acquire thrifty habits. Open a Savings Account at The Royal Bank of Canada and save regularly.

Electronics

CONTINUES TO PERFORM NEW WONDERS

"Electronics", long familiar to the electrical engineer, has made possible many important applications of electricity during the past half century.

Radio is an electronic device . . . X-ray . . . Talkies . . . "Radar". A few of the Westinghouse developments in the field of electronics include the Ignitron, the Sterilamp and the Precipitron. These and many other new achievements will be among the contributions which Westinghouse engineers will make to "Electronic Age".

"Need Life Insurance— WHO - ME?"

The younger you are when you take out your first life insurance policy, the lower your premium will be.

So, you should start thinking about your life insurance when you get your first salary cheque.

Will you need insurance? Yes—unless you intend to live like a hermit without human contacts and responsibilities. One day you may have a home of your own to keep, a family to provide for. One day you may need security for a business loan; and, some distant day, you will certainly need money for your own retirement.

There are Mutual Life policies that can do all these things. When the time comes for you to buy life insurance, see a Mutual Life representative. He will help you to plan the right kind and amount of insurance protection to suit your special needs.

NATIONAL DEFENCE and SELF DEFENCE

It is both amazing and deplorable the proportion of men rejected as physically unfit for military service due to malnutrition resulting from their not having had sufficient of the body-building benefits of MILK in their diet.

The best soldiers and the best students are those who have, in their formative years, been provided with plenty of rich, wholesome MILK and still follow the "MILKY WAY" to abundant HEALTH.

MY GRATITUDE

The Publication is completed, but the indispensable efforts of those who have made it possible must be acknowledged. Many of you at Varsity have probably never heard of some of the persons most responsible for the success of this task, yet without them, the Evergreen and Gold would never be. My deepest gratitude goes to Bert Hollingshead, who was my advisor and councillor at all times. Also, I must thank Harry, Polly, Gus, Pat and Eirllys. The friendliness and helpfulness of this staff at McDermid's could not be excelled. This same spirit of helpfulness was not lacking at our printers, either, and to all the staff there, and especially to Bert Ratcliffe, I wish to say: "Thank you."

The successful completion of any large undertaking is never possible without co-operation. I have counted myself fortunate to have had associated with me, a staff upon whom I could depend at all times for the utmost in co-operation. They are many, space is little, but my gratitude is great. Appreciation is due to Harry Hole for work out of the line of duty—on his brainchild, the "Orphan." I wish to give special thanks to Mary Sterling for the interest and time that she has given. My right-hand man, Alf. Harper, cannot know how much I have valued his help and advice. Lastly, I wish to mention perhaps the most indispensable of all—Pat Robinson. His ability and energy have contributed, in a large degree, to any success our effort may have.

To you—the reader, I say: pleasant reading. To you—my co-workers, I say:—Thanks.

ORPHAN

Pictorial

Edition

Vol. 1, No. 5

Tuesday, Aug. 1, 1944

The past session saw the long awaited opening of the University Cafeteria, which most students hailed as being the biggest advancement this university has experienced in the past twenty years. Architects admire its solid and substantial appearance; city planners, its location, within easy reach of all the college cram centres; but students, themselves masters of the world's oldest art, admire it for its food.

The Orphan salutes all those directly concerned with bringing the new Cafeteria into being and offers a name for the Varsity centre which, we hope, will re-echo in the graduate's mind whenever he has pie a la mode.

A PRAYER

Lord let me keep a straight way in the path of honour—and a straight face in the presence of solemn asses. Let me not truckle to the high, nor bulldoze the low, let me frolic with the jack and the joker and win the game. Lead me into Truth and Beauty--and tell me her name. Keep me sane, but not too sane. Let me not take the world or myself too seriously, and grant more people to laugh with and fewer to laugh at. Let me condemn no man because of his grammar and no woman on account of her morals, neither being responsible for either. Preserve my sense of humor and of values and proportions. Let me be helpful while I live, but not live too long. Which is about all today, Lord. Amen.

He's the Ordinary Seaman of the Mercantile Marine

by HELEN HAWTHORNE

He doesn't wear a uniform
Of a tailored Navy blue.
He may never be too stylish
But he's loyal, fine and true.
He's the stoutest, bravest fighter
That the world has ever seen
He's the Ordinary Seaman
Of the Mercantile Marine.

He's the lad upon the tanker
With its precious load of oil;
He's the one who mans the freighter
With the products of our toil.
He's the one who dares the raider
And the lurking submarine
He's the Ordinary Seaman
Of the Mercantile Marine.

Let's give credit to our Air Force
And the boys in khaki, too,
Let's give credit to our Navy
And wherever it is due,
But don't forget the vital cog
In the Allies' war machine
He's the Ordinary Seaman
Of the Mercantile Marine.
